Truck route opposition

Opposition to the use of 18th Street as a truck route to carry heavy truck traffic around the business district to and from I-55 Route 151 was voiced to the Granite City Council Monday night in a letter from one business operator and a petition signed by 29 persons.

The letter, which also objects to the enlargement of the 18th Street and Madison Avenue intersection where electric traffic signals with left-turn lights are to be installed, was submitted by William C. Houser of Houser Automotive.

He said, "We are highly opposed to this project since it would be very detrimental to our business. Our parking facilities are now barely adequate and this planned project would take all the remaining parking on 18th Street and on Madison Avenue, plus the fact that it would also take half of the parking on our now small parking lot."

"If there is any way in which you could help us, it would be greatly appreciated," Houser concluded.

The petition was signed by residents and owners and managers of businesses along the truck route and informed council members that "We are opposed to the proposed truck route along 18th Street because of excessive congestion, vibration, noise, noxious fumes"

Jail ready— in May '78

Despite problems caused by overcrowding at the antiquated Madison County Jail in Edwardsville, a new jail now being designed probably will not open until May of 1978, Henry R. Gabriel of Granite City, architect of the new jail, told the Madison County Board at the board's regular meeting yesterday morning.

Board pay system is debated

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
Madison County Board members yesterday rejected a proposal to change the method by which they are paid for their services.

The present system of per diem and expense payments would have been changed to a flat monthly salary plan under the proposal presented.

At the board's January meeting Wednesday morning in the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville, Daniel Partney of Granite City, the board member representing District 21, tried to introduce a resolution changing the method of paying board members.

But the members voted 23 to 2 against allowing the resolution to be read or considered.

Only Partney and Louis Whitell of District 26, supervisor of Nameoki Township, voted to allow the resolution to be read.

Partney has contended some board members are misusing the method of being paid for each meeting they attend, including committee meetings, and being reimbursed for their mileage and expenses while on county business. The alleged misuse involves scheduling of needless or ineffective committee meetings, he indicated.

Opponents of a monthly salary plan say the per diem system encourages members to attend committee and board meetings and that many members might not be as active in county governmental affairs if they were receiving a flat salary.

Street proposals

An extensive street improvement program that will include projects in all seven Granite City wards will be developed for construction during 1976, City Council members were informed during a regular meeting Monday night.

The citywide program will be mapped by the city engineering department on the basis of requests prepared by the aldermen of each ward. Requests that the improvements be developed were made of his department by Mayor Paul Schuler and members of the council's Street and Alley Committee, headed by Alderman Clyde Boyd, yesterday.

Vocational switch to GC

The Granite City Board of Education has unanimously voted not to send any local students to the J. B. Johnson Career Development Center in Alton during the 1976-77 school year and to attempt to establish as many vocational programs as possible in the existing high schools.

Numerous problems were noted in a report to the board by Robert F. Maxwell, vocational director for the Granite City schools, including the high cost and loss of time for busing students to and from Alton, the loss of state reimbursements for the vocational students, a high tuition cost which has been estimated at a minimum of $500 per student per year, and the fact that construction of the center is behind schedule and the facility may not be in full operation next year.

Maxwell estimated that for each two hours of instruction students spent in classes in Alton, they would have to spend two hours in transportation, which would eliminate at least one additional class during the day.

Although the state would reimburse 80 per cent of the cost of the transportation, the local share would amount to about $1,454 per bus each year. It has been estimated six buses would be required if the district's full quota of 232 students was sent each year, a total for transportation of about $8,726, not including the amount the state would reimburse.

One area of training, for students wishing to become licensed practical nurses, requires four hours per day of training and could not be fit into the scheduling of either school, it was noted.

Honor Sisters for century of service

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

To celebrate their 100th year in the United States, which coincides with the nation's Bicentennial Year, the Sisters of Divine Providence are observing the occasion with several special events.

As part of the celebration members of the Order are visiting various missions throughout their area of service to present a playlet about their arrival in this country, specifically to the St. Louis area.

This week, the Sisters were honored at St. Elizabeth Church where they presented the skit at a social gathering, attended by more than 600 persons.

The Sisters of Divine Providence operate St. Elizabeth Hospital here, which they purchased in 1921, and provide the faculty and staff at St. Elizabeth Parochial School in Granite City and St. Mary's School in Madison.

The Sisters arrived in the United States from Mainz, Germany, in 1876 and founded the St. Louis Province Motherhouse in Normandy, Mo. Their area of service now extends from Chicago to Shreveport, La.

In addition to St. Elizabeth parishioners, among the guests at this week's dinner were 35 Sisters representing the orders of Divine Providence, Sisters of St. Francis and Sisters of St. Dominic.

Preceding the playlet and program, a potluck dinner was served. The event was sponsored by St. Elizabeth Altar Society and the Holy Name Society.

The questions of how European immigrants became Americans — and the uncertainty about what an American really was, anyway — have puzzled scholars, politicians, and citizens for nearly 200 years.

Hector St. John de Crevecoeur's famous early nineteenth-century query, "What then is the American, this new man? becomes more complex when applied to a state.

The accountant held that all of the billing was appropriate with the exception of about $2,900 in minor accounting errors.

Thus far, Granite City has received $500,000 in reimbursements from the FDAA, although it has filed claims for a total of approximately $900,000.

The total of $1,685,000 paid to the Ernest firm for repair of 17 sewer breaks is in addition to funds spent by the city for repair of other 'breaks that could be handled by the street department."

Federal audit of repairs

Federal auditors in early February to audit expenditures for repair of a long list of sanitary sewer breaks for which the city claimed reimbursements by the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

Among the claims to be audited will be those involving $225,500 in controversial bills paid by the City Council to the Flins P. Ernest Contracting Co. of East St. Louis.

The firm handled repair work on 17 major sanitary sewer breaks between July 1973 and May 1974.

Much of the auditing will involve the claims by the Ernest firm, since the city paid the company a total of $1,685,000 under a one-year contract for repair of sewer breaks resulting from the spring floods of 1973. A high underground water table caused some sewer lines in the Nameoki area to "float" and break.

Mayor Paul Schuler said auditing of flood disaster claims is a normal procedure after completion of repair jobs on which federal assistance was used.

The audit will determine finally the total amount of FEMA reimbursements allowed to Granite City.

Final payments were made to the Ernest firm in late August 1975 after the City Council sought to resolve a controversy over allegations that there were billings for $225,500 for work not actually performed.

Those payments involved release of $143,000, representing a 10 per cent retained fee withheld by the city during the year-long repair of broken sanitary sewers.

The payment in full was challenged at that time by Lionel Portell, superintendent of streets, who said that records he maintained showed the firm did not do 50 days of dewatering and 47 days of by-pass pumping for which claims had been filed by the firm and paid by the city.

Portell said it was his opinion that bills involving $225,500 in payments should have been adjusted to conform with the contract, as he interpreted it. He maintained that work done under union rules requiring a full week's pay when workers actually were on a job only several days of the week should have been provided for in the contract.

Alderman Clyde Boyd, chairman of the Street and Alley Committee, noted that the bills disputed by Portell represented work done under rules of the Operating Engineers union, requiring a full week's pay to a worker assigned to a job on a Wednesday, for example, for work through Friday.

Boyd said his committee's recommendation for release of final payments to the Ernest company was based on advice by Attorney Lance Callis after the city's auditor for the job, Dennis Muir of Curry, Lenhardt & Co., certified public accountants, studied the job costs.

The accountant held that all of the billing was appropriate with the exception of about $2,900 in minor accounting errors.

Thus far, Granite City has received $500,000 in reimbursements from the FDAA, although it has filed claims for a total of approximately $900,000.

Cultural tour for Maurer

Danny Maurer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay D. Maurer, 633 Washington Ave., Venice, is among 26 Erskine College (Due West, S.C.) students who are on a ten-day cultural tour of New York City.

The tour, "The Fine Arts in New York," is being conducted by Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Koonits of the Erskine departments of education and music. It will end Jan. 25.

Prior to leaving for New York Jan. 15, the students spent ten days in class at Erskine.

"The Fine Arts in New York" is among more than 60 special one-month courses being taught at Erskine during the college's seventh annual January interim term. It carries four semester hours credit.

Among highlights of the cultural tour will be four Broadway plays, performances of the Metropolitan Opera, New York Ballet and New York Philharmonic, visits to the Museum of Modern Art, Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Guggenheim Museum and other art collections, a tour of the United Nations and Lincoln Center, a sightseeing tour of New York, a poetry reading by Wendell Berry, and a performance of works of Bach in the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Holy Trinity.

Maurer is a graduate of Wood High School and an Erskine senior physical education major. Erskine, founded in 1839 by the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, is South Carolina's oldest four-year denominational college. It is located in the piedmont section midway between Charlotte, N.C., and Atlanta, Ga.

MATTHEW 19:26 "With God all things are possible."

How precious are the blessings of God! Everytime I see someone saved or healed or delivered from a broken or wicked life I rejoice. God's arm is not shortened in these last days! He is able to do exceedingly above all that we ask or even think, according to the power that worketh in us! If we dwell less on how sick or how afflicted or how lost someone may be and dwell only upon this: that WITH GOD ALL THINGS ARE POSSIBLE: ALL THINGS!

That means broken homes can be mended, rebellious children can be filled with love and submission. It means you can find a job to support your family! With God ALL things are possible.

Why not commit your problems to God right now? You've done all that you can do, now trust Him, believe that with Him ALL things are possible. Today!

The Explorers were presented their new badges by Village Trustee Raymond E.

Gaudette Jr., chairman of the Pontoon Beach police committee.

While making the presentation, Gaudette said, "You are now wearing a complete police style uniform bearing the name of Pontoon Beach. We expect that you shall act as young ladies and gentlemen while wearing that uniform and realize that you are representing our village when in uniform. I personally feel that you are the village's finest and you will act accordingly."

Newly elected officers are: James Laughlin, president; John Bowman, first vice-president; Scott Matyas, second vice-president of activities;

Lori Warren, second vice-president for fund raising who also is the first girl elected an officer in the co-ed post; Jason Kieffer, secretary, and Charles Szczepanik, treasurer. They assumed their duties at the meeting.

Laughlin congratulated the members of the post for working to raise the money to buy the badges, and gave special thanks to Village President Floyd David Moss and Chairman Gaudette who made contributions toward the purchase of the badges.

He announced plans for the post to attend a regional Explorer conference in Kansas City the latter part of February.

Governor's son follows in dad's footsteps—in a jeep

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

Lincoln became famous by walking several miles to return library books; Dan Walker walked 1,197 miles and became governor; but young Charles R. Walker, 21, son of the governor, has been traveling through the Southern part of the state in a jeep to further his father's campaign.

"I've only got a three week semester break from school and I wanted to help my dad get elected governor, so we discussed what I could do," young Walker said.

"We came up with the idea of launching our downstate campaign by retracing the steps walked by dad in 1971. I walked over 600 miles with him then," Walker said while he was in Granite City Monday.

"My dad wanted me to visit as many towns as I could during the short time I had; to stop in and see the many people who were so nice to us during the walk.

"He also wanted me to give him a report on what the people thought he was doing right and what he was doing wrong."

"Dad has made some mistakes, but the people of the state recognize he is trying to do a good job and is working on their behalf. Dad is working for the people and not any special interests groups."

"I find that people are interested in three main areas: taxes, Daley (Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago) and roads."

"Well, he hasn't raised taxes, and Southern Illinois has the largest road program in the state. And dad is doing his best to keep the Daley machine from controlling the entire state."

"The primary is a tough fight. The Daley machine is out to get dad and wants to control everything in Illinois."

"We have been visiting between four and five towns a day. I generally stop at the town square or business district. I try to visit people with whom we stayed in 1971, and of course we stop in at all the newspapers we can find."

"I hope to make it to Jacksonville, Ill. by Friday but I am not sure where we will end up. We kind of plan one day at a time."

"I have found the people of Southern Illinois as friendly now as they were four years ago. My dad needed the help of the people then and they gave it to him, and the Walker family is grateful."

"We need the help of the people of Southern Illinois again, more than ever if the people are truly going to have a voice in their government. My dad listens to the people and not to Daley or the Daley-controlled legislators," Walker said.

Charles is a senior at Brown University in Providence, Rhode Island, and plans to enter law school in the fall. He began to retrace his father's trip on Jan. 6 in Brookport, Ill.

FOLLOWING IN FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS—
ALMOST. Charles R. Walker, 21, son of Gov. Daniel Walker, retraces the famed Walker walk to help launch the governor's Downstate campaign bid for re-election. Traveling in a brightly painted red-white-blue jeep, young Walker greeted local residents in Granite City Monday afternoon. The original 1,197 mile walk began in Brookport, Ill., July 9, 1971, and ended in Chicago 116 days later. Charles, a college senior in Rhode Island who is using his semester break to campaign for his father, also started in Brookport and is trying to cover as much of the original territory as he can during his three weeks home.

Lewis Sabin to retire

The Venice Board of Education accepted the resignation of Venice High School Principal Lewis E. Sabin at the board meeting Monday evening.

Sabin has been employed by the Venice School District for 39 years. His resignation will be effective June 25 when Sabin is planning to retire.

In other business at Monday's meeting, the board hired three certified teachers for part-time employment in special adult education projects at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center.

Hired to work in the programs for a period of 15 to 20 hours per week through June 30 were Nancy Hess, Minna Leventron and Patricia Painter, whose salaries will be reimbursed from federal and state funds.

Robert N. Vickers was authorized to file for funds under Public Law 874 (Impacted Aid) for students whose parents are employed by the federal government.

Also approved was use of the Venice School cafeteria by the Venice Boosters, a new adult group, which will sponsor a public chili supper from noon until 6 p.m. Saturday.

Board members discussed the proposed revival of "Business, Industry, Education (BIE) Day," a project of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, and agreed to take part in the venture, which tentatively is scheduled in October.

Vickers said the activity proved successful in years past, but was discontinued by the Chamber more than a decade ago.

Venice schools will be closed Thursday and Friday, Jan. 29 and 30, for the annual in-district teachers' workshop. The meetings will take place at Collinsville Holiday Inn, Vickers said.

Meditation lecture Wednesday

The International Meditation Society will sponsor a free introductory lecture on the Transcendental Meditation Program Wednesday, Jan. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the YMCA auditorium.

The speaker, Bill Ryan, recently returned from a six-month teacher-training course with Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, founder of the TM Program, held in Arosa, Switzerland. Ryan will explain how the profound rest gained through the practice of Transcendental Meditation improves all areas of life: mental, physical and mental health, and social behavior.

He will also discuss how the development of the individual provides the basis for the Age of Enlightenment.

In the past two years, there has been a tremendous growth of interest in the Transcendental Meditation Program, society leaders said. Currently there are seven full-time TM teachers serving the area. Courses on the TM Program are regularly offered in Belleville, Scott Air Force Base, Collinsville, Granite City, Edwardsville, SIUE, and at the new office Center in Alton.

New lift station pump authorized

A lift station at the small sanitary sewage treatment plant for Mitchell School has broken and a portable air pump is being used to lift sewage from the sewers and into the treatment plant, the Granite City Board of Education has been notified.

The board has authorized J. A. Heubner, director of business affairs, to seek prices on purchasing a new pump and control panel and to report back to the board at its next meeting in February.

It was noted the existing pump in the lift station were installed in 1962. A private sewer carries waste from the school to the lift station and treatment plant located on the school property.

Sewage then is treated and empties into a ditch behind the school.

The board awarded a $1,800 contract to F. W. McGraw Co., Madison, to repair a smoke stack at McKinley School which was struck by lightning in November and is beginning to separate.

Heubner told the board the bricks in the smoke stack are beginning to bulge out and the separation at the top is growing larger. He said he feels the smoke stack is beginning to become a hazard and sought prices from three bidders on repairing it. McGraw was the lowest bidder, he said.

The repairs will not be covered by the district's insurance, since all buildings are covered by a $5,000 deductible policy.

The same company was awarded a $3,500 contract for masonry work being done on a home being built by students in the construction trades program. The bid was the lowest of three received for the work.

The Rogers Co., Inc., was selected as the lowest of five bidders for roofing work at Grigsby Junior High School to repair storm damage.

Heubner noted the roof was leaking and caused some damage to the gymnasium floor, which has broken down several times. The new unit will cost $2,373. A lower bid did not

The board authorized the purchase of a dust collection system for the woodworking shop at Granite City High School North. Westerheide Sheet Metal Co. was selected for a $6,740 contract for the system as the lowest of three bidders to supply it.

Burroughs Corp. was selected as the only bidder meeting specifications to supply a high-speed check signing machine to replace the district's present one, which has broken down several times. The new unit will cost $2,373. A lower bid did not meet specifications.

A $874 contract was approved for Admiral Hospital Supply Co. to supply a battery-powered growth chair for use with special education students.

Admiral's was the lowest of two bids received. The State will reimburse the district for a portion of the cost.

Approval was given for payment of a $652 bill from Collinsville Equipment Co. for emergency repairs to a tractor damaged during a burglary at the GCCHS North field house.

Insurance will reimburse the district for the repairs.

Payment also was approved of a $430 bill from the Horner and Shultz Engineering Co. for extra work involved in designing an alternate system for installing a new sewer at Coolidge Junior High School.

The firm received approval of up to $2,000 for designing the new sewer, but designed both an original plan and an alternate plan.

The alternate plan was selected and the sewer cost $41,500 to replace. The cost would have been $47,725, if the alternate plan had not been proposed, Heubner explained.

Payment of $250 was approved to reimburse the state's Joint Review Committee for expenses incurred during a site evaluation done here for the Operating Room Technician program in February of 1975.

The board voted to discontinue its participation in the Illinois Association of School Administrators program which would have required payment of $150 this year to renew.

It was noted the IASA and the Illinois Association of School Board conduct in-service seminars and workshops and issue research papers, but little return was noticed from the membership last year.

The Granite City district was among the charter members when the IASA began three years ago. The board agreed to review the IASA program again next year to determine whether to rejoin at that time.

Payment of $144 for the biennial subscription to the National School Board Journal was approved. The cost covers eight subscriptions for the board members and administration.

Approval was granted to Dale C. Rea, assistant to the superintendent, to submit Title II and Title III grant applications. Grants sought are about $12,500 from the Title II program for full reimbursement of library materials, and about $4,000 for a 50 per cent reimbursement from the Title III program for materials and equipment in specified subject areas.

Rea also was authorized to submit application for an Impact Aid claim which pays part of the cost of educating children residing on tax-free federal property. The district received $86,628 under that program last year. The amount of the grant this year has not been determined.

Bills totaling $222,584 were approved for payment including $104,283 from the educational fund, $57,790 from the transportation fund, $4,680 from federal funds, $756 from the travel allowance fund, and $55,095 from the building fund.

Cafeteria disbursements for January totaling $49,810 also were approved.

Rites for father of Rev. Baugh

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Leesburg, Fla., for Earl Baugh of Leesburg, father of the Rev. Roy Baugh, pastor of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Mr. Baugh died Saturday in the hospital at Leesburg.

Also surviving are his wife, another son, Charles Baugh of Collinsville, two sisters and grandchildren.

Versatile woman coach emphasizes idealism

Idealism, understanding and love of sports all go together to make Cheri Fuchs, Granite City, an outstanding assistant coach for women's sports at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, her associates say.

Miss Fuchs, who is serving a two-year graduate assistantship at SIUE, comments, "I don't have a favorite sport—I know it sounds unusual, but it's just that I enjoy all activities."

She feels that just getting a bachelor of science degree and then going out to coach or play on other teams does not give a person the variety of insight as does working with other coaches. "I've gained much more knowledge by working with a different coach for each sport," she said.

Miss Fuchs wants to be able to develop girls to win. "I'm kind of idealistic," she emphasized. "The way I look at it, I'm not only out there to coach them but to also help them develop into women who are able to handle a variety of situations."

Coach Fuchs feels a responsibility to help her players achieve the "goals beneath" goals which come with playing sports.

"I can help them develop personally-wise so that they can handle working situations and social situations, which basically means working with other people. I want them to be the best they can be, as both athletes and people."

It is her belief that once a person learns how it is to work for something, such as sports, and to excel, it gives the person the drive to work and excel in other areas.

"Athletics," she said, "give women self-confidence because the participants learn to operate in situations which can be carried over into everyday life."

"There are different aspects of coaching for each sport. For instance, in field hockey, Coach Fuchs said, "I have 12 players, and I really have to work them on offense. But there is only so much I can teach them."

"They have to develop stick work, which is not so much using the hands as it is using the hockey stick. There's not much variety in offense," she added, "so you really have to work on excellence in the basics."

She emphasized that once the players get on the field, "a coach can't do a thing except for the few minutes during half-time."

In basketball and softball, Miss Fuchs said, it's a different story.

"In basketball, a coach can call time-outs to talk with her players. There are all kinds of offense and defense techniques and a variety of positions to be used during the game," she said.

In softball, we get a chance to talk with the players in every inning. We try to work out double-plays. In hitting, we can work out our strategy right then and there."

Miss Fuchs thinks it is important that coaches and players understand each other. "Each player has her own unique personality, and a coach has to learn to deal with each person as an individual."

In order to establish a working relationship, she feels, a coach has to take into consideration that "these girls have class pressures, outside responsibilities and jobs. Then we come up with the additional pressures of practices and games, and there are many girls who have family pressures on top of all of those."

According to Coach Fuchs, "it's important to understand the basics of psychology in order to understand and motivate each player."

"For instance, to motivate one person, I might have to keep yelling at her, if that's the only way I can make something clear. Yet, I might be able to deal better with someone else by pulling her aside and talking to her on a one-to-one basis."

Coach Fuchs said she has never had personal conflicts with any of her players. "Now if you happen to catch them on the wrong day, they might jump at you. But they always come back and apologize. I think if a person is in a bad mood, you don't jump on her but try to ease her out of it."

Miss Fuchs, who has played sports most of her life, graduated from high school in 1968 and attended Pleasant Valley Junior College and Greenville College during her junior and senior years.

"In my junior year, I played on the field hockey, volleyball and softball teams and at the same time managed the tennis team."

"During my senior year, I played on the field hockey team. But I didn't enjoy playing volleyball, so I managed the varsity volleyball team and coached the junior varsity team."

According to Miss Fuchs, in previous years, only physical education majors were allowed to play women's sports. But, more recently, "anybody who is interested and feels she is capable of playing can participate on the teams."

Coach Fuchs doesn't want to see it come to the point where women compete against men. "I think girls need to compete against girls," she said.

"I think SIUE is making a fine advancement towards promoting women's sports, as are the area high schools. Summing up her desire to continue coaching, Miss Fuchs said, "It excites me to work with people who have that desire to excel."

MISS CHERI FUCHS, assistant coach for women's sports at SIUE.

Swimmers improve speed

The Tri-City Area YMCA swim team competed in a triangular meet during the weekend at Lewis and Clark College, Godfrey, with Alton and Jacksonville YMCA teams. Individual standouts were Denise Darrell with second place in the 50-yd backstroke and 3rd in the 56-yd. freestyle; Jason Jolly, 3rd in 50-yd. freestyle; and Leslie Allen, victory in 25-yd. freestyle, an exhibition event.

The team fielded its first relay squad since it was started last year; and the 10-yr.-and-under boys placed second. The relay team was made up of John Morris, Tom Buente, Jeff Welborn and Jason Jolly.

The girls' relay team of age 8 and under placed 3rd; swimmers were Wendy Welborn, Melody Witt, Pamela Mon-gomery and Leslie Allen. Other members of the swim team who participated in the meet were Lisa Lenzi, Robin Williams, Shawn Allen, Mary Brant, Julie Grider, Leslie Haven, Faye Wills, Stephanie Brant and Tracy Young. Every swimmer who participated in the meet previous to this one bettered the time in every event.

There are still openings for swimmers on the team. The three requirements are: membership, good physical health and ability to swim two laps of the "V" pool.

The next meet is on Feb. 1, an AAU meet at Belleville. On Feb. 14 there will be a dual meet with the Bi-County YMCA in Belleville.

Big wins, heavy travel schedule for mat Cougars

A rugged schedule of three matches in three days—all against Division I opponents—faces the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville wrestling team this week.

Coach Larry Kristoff's Cougars, coming off a weekend sweep of Central Oklahoma and Central Missouri State, take on the University of Kentucky in Lexington, Ky., tonight at 7:30, and then meet Indiana University in Bloomington, Ind., at 7 p.m. Friday and Indiana State University in Terre Haute, Ind., Saturday. Of these three opponents, only Indiana State is under .500, at 2-4.

The weekend produced a lot of good news for the Cougars. Besides defeating Central Oklahoma 31-16 and overwhelming Central Missouri State 26-9, the Cougars benefitted from outstanding performances from some unlikely individuals.

Junior Dave Byrne, a 158-pounder from Des Plaines, wrestled for the first time in over a month after an injury and a bout with the flu. He won both matches, one by a fall, to raise his record to 3-1.

The biggest surprise was sophomore Gary McGrath of Richton Park. Making his first appearance of the season, McGrath won both his matches at 142 pounds, including one by a fall. McGrath replaced regular Greg Tuck, out with a knee injury.

SIUE's old reliable, 167-pound Dennis Byrne and 190-pound Frank Savagnano, also won twice each. Savagnano, like Dennis Byrne, a two-time All-American, raised his record to a team-best 19-2 with 10 falls. Byrne is 17-3.

Bus for North game at Quincy

Steeler basketball fans wishing to attend the GCHS North-Quincy Notre Dame contest at Quincy on Friday, Feb. 13, may make arrangements to travel there by chartered bus through the North High Booster Club, providing reservations are made before Thursday, Feb. 5, by contacting Everett Wortham at 931-3895.

Wortham notes there will be a charge for the round-trip transportation, and that a minimum deposit may be required when reservations are made.

Wins by Lakeview

Lakeview Christian Academy High School Patriots won back-to-back basketball contests during the weekend, defeating St. Charles, Mo., 76-24 and the Eagles of Beran Christian School at East St. Louis 42-37.

Dennis McCaslin, a junior, led the Lakeview Patriots of Ponton Beach to second both days, garnering 30 points against St. Charles and 25 against the Eagles.

Lakeview, a private school which meets in the Central Baptist Church at Ponton Beach, is in its second year of operation and in its first sports year.

Steelers stave off Rams until final mat bout

"It could easily have been the other way around," noted Steeler mat mentor Walt Whitaker, "since a number of bouts were lost in close competition." But the final score was a 27-16 defeat.

Granite City High School North's wrestling team crossed the river Tuesday evening into Ram territory and nearly toppled Riverview Gardens, a top-ranked team in Missouri with a 9-0 dual meet record. The host Rams won but were not assured of the victory until the last of the 12 matches had been completed.

The Steelers shut out the Rams in the opening bouts, Kris Whelan (98 pounds) winning a 3-2 decision and his brother Keith Whelan (105) pinned his foe in 39 seconds.

Keith Whelan is undefeated thus far with a 23-0 record.

Riverview earned team points with a 7-3 decision over David Fulek (112), but two more wins by North High kept the Steelers out of a tie—Matt McCullough (119) prevailing 8-5 and Jim Bledsoe (126) winning 7-2.

The Rams began closing on North's lead, with wins over Charles Taylor (132) 6-4 and John Sands (138) 9-4.

Following a win by Steeler Ray Stuart (145) 6-4, Riverview deadlocked the meet with wins over Leonard Butler (155) in 3:40 and Mark Wilder (167) by 7-4.

Wilder provided tough competition for his opponent, gaining a first-period lead on a takedown before the Ram matman tied the bout in the same period with a reverse. A reversal of his foe in the second period gave the Steeler wrestler a narrow lead, but Wilder's opponent went ahead later on an escape, and a takedown and then won with a reverse in the third period.

Riverview broke the tie with a win over Jim Shemwell (185) 6-2 and then wrapped it up by upending Heavyweight Dennis Cavar in a pin in 4:50 after Cavar had earned a point lead.

"Wilder's bout was only one example of the intensity of the competition," said Whitaker, whose Steeler team now has a 15-3 mark.

"The 132-pound match also was extremely close."

Taylor, at 132, held the edge over his Riverview opponent throughout the first two periods, and appeared headed for a win until a reverse and near fall by the Ram wrestler changed the trend of the bout with 30 seconds remaining.

Free throws again doom Cougar five

Free throws are killing the Cougar eagles of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and their coach, Jim Dudley. A case in point was SIUE's squeaker 85-78 loss to Quincy College Monday night at the St. Louis Arena.

It was the second straight loss in which Dudley's charges have been done in at the foul line. Against Quincy, the Hawks of Sherill Hawks made 24 of 30 free throw chances as the Cougars were making 14 of 19. The Cougars' seven field goal (32 to 20) advantage wasn't enough to pull the game out.

In their Jan. 17 loss to Indiana State U.-Evansville there, the Cougars were demolished from the free throw line; the Hoosiers hit on 19 of 30 chances while SIUE was making four of seven.

Against Quincy, a cold first half, plus the Hawks making good on 14 of 16 free throws to save his team, the Cougars, allowed the invaders to zoom out to a 40-22 lead. Everything had looked great for the Cougars after 10 minutes of play, when they were leading 16-14, but the roof fell in on Dudley's dandies; Quincy outscored the Cougars 22-2, during which SIUE ballhandlers committed eight straight turnovers.

Dudley, proud but still disappointed that his charges' last-half rally fell just short, saw his team battle back and put together an offensive surge in which the Cougars outscored the Hawks, 37 to 16. A driving layup by guard, Al Turner, at 3:10 to go in the game brought SIUE to 74-70.

Mike Miller was the star of the Cougars' last-half rally as he poured in 21 of his game-high 25 points. High point man for Quincy was Ed Greife, who made good on 12 of 13 free throws and hit for five baskets.

Gina Graham in state free throw meet finals

Gina Graham, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Graham, 3334 Myrtle Ave., will represent Granite City on Saturday, Jan. 31, in state finals of the third annual nationwide Elks "hoop shot" competition, to be held at the University of Illinois at Champaign.

Miss Graham, who captured top honors there last month in the age 10-11 group during Granite City Elks Lodge 1063 competition, made good six of her first 10 shots from the free throw line during the weekend.

She concluded by tossing in 10 of 25 through the net to take top honors during a Southwest Elks district meet at Pana, Ill.

She will be one of 48 district finalists to compete at Champaign and attempt to earn a trip to regional competition Feb. 28 at Iowa City, Ia.

Other Quad-City area youths who competed at Pana after successful efforts here last month in their age groups were: Elaine Reinegal, age 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reinegal, 2211 Waterman Ave., and Crystal Naton, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nance, 2704 Swan Drive.

Keith Heiman, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Heiman, 2229 East 26th Street, and Eric Goff, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goff, 2574 Spalding Ave., Lori Morris, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morris, 521 Fleming St.

Tom Miller, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Miller, 2522 Probes Ave., and Terry Besserman, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Besserman, 3041 Maryville Road.

Jodi Lupardus, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lupardus, 2522 Ohio Ave., and Kathy Sikora, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Sikora, 2315 O'Hara Ave.

John Brawley, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brawley, 2033 Lindell Blvd., and Donald Keeling, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Keeling, 2404 Delta Ave. Don Watson of Granite City, district chairman, said, "An indication of how tough the Pana competition was is given by the age 10-11 competition. Kevin Paur of Belleville tied his opponent, each making 20 of 25 shots, and they had to shoot 30 extra times to decide a winner."

Auto race fans to salute champions

The St. Louis Auto Racing Fan Club's ninth annual "banquet of champions" will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Red Carpet Inn, Bridgeton, Mo., could well be billed as a "who's who in motorsports."

Eighteen area and national auto racing champions, representing every major category of racing, will be recognized for their achievements during the 1975 season, including Tri-City Speedway's father and son stock car track champions, Russ and Mike Wallace.

A U.S. Auto Club historian and author, Donald Davidson, will serve as master of ceremonies and guest speaker. Adding sparkle to the event will be Miss June Cochrane, a former Playboy "playmate of the year" who will assist in the award presentations.

Miss Cochrane, of Indianapolis, Ind., now represents national companies at major racing events around the nation. She is to reign at next month's Daytona, Fla., 500-mile stock car race, held during national speed week there.

Granite Cityan Bill Guth, fan club president, notes that among those to be honored are Len Gittermeier, 1975 U.S. Auto Club stock car division "rookie of the year" and a 1974 late model stock car track champion here at Tri-City Speedway, and the late Jimmy Caruthers, 1975 U.S. Auto Club dirt-track champion.

Caruthers, winner here at Tri-City Speedway during a U.S. Auto Club midweek race program four years ago, underwent cancer surgery in December 1974 and returned fulltime to his racing career in February of last year.

The Anaheim, Calif., race driver swept to the 1975 dirt car championship via the national race circuit before succumbing to cancer two months ago at the age of 31.

Larry Griffith of St. Louis, chief mechanic for Caruthers' race car, and George Middleton of St. Louis, sponsor of the vehicle, will accept the award in behalf of the late champion.

In addition to special achievement and appreciation awards to be given to area motorsport personalities who have, excelled during the past year, the Dale Mueller memorial news media award and the Curt Lehman memorial sportsmanship award will also be presented to outstanding motorsports persons in this area.

Guth relates that tickets are still available to persons wishing to attend the banquet. He requests that anyone desiring tickets, at a cost of $12.50 each, contact him at 931-4611.

Ice hockey title chase; seek 6th win

Granite City's ice hockey club will seek its sixth straight win tomorrow when the local club takes on Collinsville at 10:30 p.m. at Wilson Park ice rink in the Madison-St. Clair Junior Ice Hockey League (age 19 and under).

Player-coach Gary Mainer's squad, now with an 8-2 mark, captured its fifth straight win during the weekend, defeating previously unbeaten Alton 2-1.

Granite City's win over the Alton Flames marked the out-of-town team's first loss in three years of league competition, and also denied the Flames an opportunity to clinch the league title with five weeks of competition remaining in the season.

"I have no doubt in my mind," predicts Alton Coach Tom Thompson, "that Granite City will win its next four contests."

"That means the league championship will probably be decided in the last game of the season on Feb. 21 when Alton and Granite City again play each other."

Thompson, who is also the league's vice-president, explains that if Alton and Granite City both defeat their next four opponents, the Flames will have a one-game edge in the win-loss record over Granite City.

"If Mainer's squad then beats us when we meet next month," says Thompson, "Granite City will be the champion. Both clubs would have identical records, and the tiebreaker rule would go to the club winning two out of three contests between Alton and Granite City."

The two squads have divided their first two clashes this season.

Alton defeated Granite City 2-0 on Dec. 12 and the local squad then turned that score around.

Alton, now 9-1, will meet Wood River, 3-7, on the ice here Saturday at 11:30 p.m., following a 10 p.m. Saturday contest between Belleville, 1-9, and O'Fallon, 7-3.

Granite City, 8-2, faces a Friday foe, Collinsville, which has a 2-8 record.

Wood River, last weekend, was a 7-5 victor over Belleville and O'Fallon blanked Collinsville, 11-0.

Birthday present a Scotch doubles win

Howard Wallace and his wife, Jean, of St. Louis, formerly of Madison, were celebrating his 50th birthday during the week-end with an evening of bowling here at the Bowland Lanes, 5660 Nameoki Road, when they received an unexpected birthday present.

They were presented $1,102 when the couple bowled a 247 game in "Scotch doubles."

Participants in Bowland's weekly Odds and Ends League, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace were among 66 bowlers who competed in the weekend event.

A couple's combined bowling average is divided by two, with 87 pins added over that figure. The Wallaces had a combined average of 307, resulting in a 240% target score.

"Scotch doubles differ from and is more difficult than bowling in regular game competition," says a Bowland employee.

In regular competition, each individual bowls 10 frames per game in "Scotch doubles, two bowlers alternate during the game."

If one person bowls and leaves pins standing from the first throw, his or her partner attempts to knock down the remaining pins for a spare.

Items valued at a total of about $100 were stolen from the apartment of Peggy Pieper, 2156 Washington Ave., it was reported at 9:05 p.m. Sunday. Entry was gained by breaking a window in a rear door and then reaching through to unlock the door. Taken were a portable television set and about 25 tape recordings.

Warriors pose in ornament; play Saturday

The undefeated Mascoutah Indians, now with a 14-0 record, struggled through the first two quarters against Granite City High School last night in the Salem basketball tournament but then shot with unusual accuracy in the second half to win 71-46.

The last places South High in consolation competition at 12:30 p.m. Saturday against Centralia. Centralia was a 63-60 victim of host Salem last night.

A victory Saturday would advance the Warriors against either Mount Vernon, Robinson, Carlyle or Newton in a 7:30 p.m. contest Saturday for consolation honors.

Quarter scores were an 8-8 deadlock and Mascoutah leads of 24-20 and 33-28.

"They played our kind of game throughout the first half," says South's Bryan Wilkinson, "and we played well."

"But starting with the third quarter Mascoutah really stepped up the pace of the game and let us have it."

The Indians could not pull away from the South Warriors in the first quarter and a basket by South's John Slay tied the contest at 8-8.

Indian Steve Lanter, who totaled 24 points, garnered the go-ahead field goal early in the second period.

The determined Warrior team kept stride with Mascoutah until two straight baskets by Lanter gave the Indians their four-point halftime margin.

Mascoutah played nearly perfect basketball in the third period, tallying 29 points to South's eight and fast-breaking 18-10 in the fourth quarter. The two teams matched points in the final period, 18-16.

From the field, Mascoutah held a 30-20 edge; the Indians also had an 11-6 advantage at the free throw line.

South committed the most fouls, 19-16, and the most turnovers, 20-18. The Warriors led in rebound recoveries 26-24.

Eight different players scored for South: Slay, 12; Terry Angle 11, Jim Nolan 10, Rick Fancher 4, David Rhodes three, and Mike McEwen, Tim Anderson and John Lakin two points each.

MHS tops St. Henry; next game tonight

Top-seeded Madison High School captured past the first-round competition Tuesday in the 29th annual DuPont basketball tournament with a 65-51 victory over St. Henry Prep.

Madison trailed 15-13, tied 25-25 and led 49-40 at the quarters.

The Trojans now meet Bethalto in a semifinal contest at eight o'clock tonight.

A win tonight would advance Madison into Saturday's 8 p.m. tournament championship game. A loss tonight would place Madison in Saturday's third-place tournament game at 6:30 p.m.

Bethalto advanced to meet Madison with a 68-53 win Tuesday over Missouri's Orchard Farms High.

First-round action at Dupo concluded last night with East St. Louis Assumption downing Wood River 66-56 and the host school defeating Columbia 64-37.

Dupo and Assumption play each other at 8 p.m. tomorrow, with the victor meeting the winner of tonight's Madison-Bethalto contest at 8 p.m. Saturday for the tournament championship.

With regular Madison starters Ron Jones and Danny Bankhead unable to compete Tuesday night against St. Henry due to suspension of the disciplinary action this week by Madison High, the Trojans lost some of their under-the-basket passing and scoring punch.

Ron and his brother Randall Jones have been alternating under the net while the other attended to the passing, a technique that helped earn the Trojans an 11-2 record going into tonight's 7:30 tournament title contest against Weslin High of Trenton. Weslin last night defeated Wood River.

"We won two out of three," said the coach, "and the last win for us had me pulling my hair out."

"South and West were tied 15-time this season after having been ruled earlier as ineligible to compete, filled the spot usually occupied by Ron Jones.

Madison caught up with the Belleville squad at the half on two straight buckets by Bradley.

Coach Larry Graham's Madison team opened the third period with shooting accuracy, reeling off four straight field goals for a 42-25 lead before St. Henry got its first basket of the quarter. Bradley and Randall Jones combined for the four field goals.

The Trojans shot 70 per cent from the floor in the third period hitting 12 of 17, while St. Henry managed to sink six field goals in 16 attempts.

Leading 49-40 going into the final period, Madison then outscored the enemy 15-13.

The Trojans garnered 28 baskets in 72 attempts and put seven of 14 charity tosses. Henry was 20 of 34 and 13 of 19.

St. Henry committed the fewest fouls, 15-21, and fewest turnovers, 11-12.

Madison controlled the boards, recovering 42 missed shots to St. Henry's 29. Randall Jones and Bradley set the pace with eight rebounds each.

"St. Henry has balanced scoring divided among several players," related a Madison spokesman.

"We keyed in on three players and in effect allowed two others to make points."

Stan Efrink tallied 22 of St. Henry's points and Dan Schell 17.

Bradley paced the Trojans with 16 points and Randall Jones had 13.

Keith King scored 10 points, Edwin Garrett eight, Ron Williams six, Joe Gulash and Anthony Canada five each and Rodney Davis, two points.

South girls win, play for sectional title

Coach Wilma Schulz's South High girls' volleyball team is just one win away from capturing the Illinois High School Association sectional title at Mount Olive.

GCIS South, Dupu district titlist, defeated West 20-9, lost 10-20 and then won 23-21 last night at Mount Olive to advance into tonight's 7:30 tournament title contest against Weslin High of Trenton. Weslin last night defeated Wood River.

"We won two out of three," said the coach, "and the last win for us had me pulling my hair out."

"South and West were tied 15-15 and then five times after that. We quick points then gave us the win."

A victory tonight over Weslin would advance South High into a super-sectional competition at Belleville West Tuesday, Jan. 27, with the victor there competing in the state finals Jan. 30-31 at Illinois State University at Normal.

South High now has a 9-2 record.

The determined Warrior team kept stride with Mascoutah until two straight baskets by Lanter gave the Indians their four-point halftime margin.

Mascoutah played nearly perfect basketball in the third period, tallying 29 points to South's eight and fast-breaking 18-10 in the fourth quarter. The two teams matched points in the final period, 18-16.

From the field, Mascoutah held a 30-20 edge; the Indians also had an 11-6 advantage at the free throw line.

Eight different players scored for South: Slay, 12; Terry Angle 11, Jim Nolan 10, Rick Fancher 4, David Rhodes three, and Mike McEwen, Tim Anderson and John Lakin two points each.

Granite City High School's hopes of capturing the championship of the annual Belleville East basketball tournament vanished Tuesday evening at Belleville when the Comanches of Cahokia matched the Stealers' 25 field goals against 25 field goals to North's five for a 60-55 first-round win.

GCIS North will meet Triad (St. Jack-Troy-Marine) in a consolation contest at seven o'clock tonight.

Belleville West, an 80-41 first-round victor over Triad, plays Cahokia at 8:30 tonight in a championship bracket semifinal game.

A Steeler victory tonight would advance North High into a 2:30 p.m. contest on Saturday to play for consolation honors.

In two first-round games played last night, Murphysboro defeated Belleville All-Star 87-77 and Belleville East upended O'Fallon, 92-59.

On Friday, Althoff and O'Fallon play in a consolation contest at 7 p.m. and Belleville East and Murphysboro clash in an 8:30 p.m. championship bracket game.

Cahokia, now with a 4-15 record, led 20-14, 32-26 and 41-34 at the quarters over North on Tuesday.

The Stealers' leading pointmaker going into the tournament, Rodney Wortham (166 points in 13 games), failed to score due to a twisted ankle which forced him out of competition early in the first quarter.

But Steeler Rick Spurlock, a 6-11 senior, compensated by garnering 21 points in the game.

"After Wortham went to the bench," recalls a North High spokesman, "Spurlock took over."

Spurlock, who had 25 field goals in 63 attempts including 15 baskets by Spurlock, and put in five of nine charity tosses. Cahokia had 25 of 52 field goal attempts and 10 of 19 free throws.

Cahokia committed the fewest fouls, 9-16, but yielded possession of the ball on turnovers 16 times to North's 13.

Rebounding was nearly equal, Cahokia getting 35 recoveries and North 32.

Only four Stealers scored—Burlock 21, Tom Schocker 11, Jerry Barnett seven and Tim Luehmann six.

Walker in campaign talk here tomorrow

Governor Daniel Walker is scheduled to be at the Kullback Columbus Hall, 2052 Edison Ave., at 8 p.m. Friday for a public campaign talk.

INJURED, CHARGED

Elton Hankins, 70, of 1636 Delmar Ave., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital following an auto accident. Hankins suffered bruises to the chin and jaw and the loss of some teeth. He was charged by Madison police with careless driving. Police said his car hit a telephone pole at 10th and State streets, Madison.

LOOT BEAUTY SHOP

Shampoo, comb, razors and miscellaneous items with a total value of about $100 were stolen from Jo's Beauty Shop, 2156 Washington Ave., it was reported at 10:35 a.m. Wednesday. There were no signs of forced entry into the shop.

The governor will answer any questions that may arise from the floor, a spokesman said today.

Gov. Walker's appearance here is being sponsored by the Granite City Democratic Club, a Walker aide said.

HENRY D. KARAND-JEFF. He is being reappointed to the Tri-City Regional Port District board.

It was featured by the Press-Record today at the Governor's office in Springfield. Initially named to the board in 1959 and reappointed to consecutive terms, he is the only charter Port commissioner still active on the board. Karand-Jeff is board chairman of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank and of the American National Bank of Granite City. His many activities include serving as chairman of the Horseshoe Lake Area Commission that has been instrumental in efforts to establish a state park at the lake.

Want escrow fund used for drainage

Trustees of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District took no action in a meeting here Monday in a request by the residents of the Dobre Slough area in Nameoki Township that the district use an escrow fund of $40,000 for drainage improvements in that area.

Mrs. Helen Hawkins who has sponsored an effort by Dobre Slough area residents to obtain drainage facilities and to lower the underground water table, told the board that Madison County has agreed to a program of wellpointing in an effort to lower the underground water table and thus relieve pressure against basement walls of homes in the area.

She asked that the levee district use $40,000 funds which had been set aside for right-of-way to be used in a "levy" level district now abandoned, to help finance such a project.

Jack Scoville, president of the board, said Mrs. Hawkins felt that the county has any such project in mind and is seeking levee district help, the county should "levy" the levee district to discuss the matter.

The board approved a $21,000 payroll for the second half of January. The meeting was a special session held in the levee board offices here at 1707 Madison Ave.

News notes

Consumer prices rose seven per cent in the U.S. in 1975 and 7.9 per cent in the St. Louis metropolitan area. Final statistics showed Wednesday. The December national increase was five-tenths of one per cent.

The December St. Louis metropolitan area jobless rate rose to 8.4 per cent from 8.0 per cent in November. The post-World War II era peak was 9.3 per cent last June.

"They've done away with the electric chair. They ought to bring it back. The country today is run by criminals and federal judges," Alabama Gov. George Wallace said in a Presidential campaign talk in Peoria Tuesday.

The Illinois Supreme Court on Tuesday delayed indefinitely state regulations to limit the amount of sulfur dioxide emitted into the air. A suit contended that Pollution Control Board rules were not technically feasible or economically reasonable.

Granite City Steel is considering agreeing to a three-to-four month work stoppage to work full time on improving the system's administrative and business procedures.

Woman brought to area, raped

A 22-year-old married St. Louis woman reported Monday night that she was abducted from Forest Park Community College by two young men and was forced to drive to Mitchell where the two raped her.

She said the abductors, about 18 to 20-years-of-age, entered her car about 8:10 p.m. Monday and forced her to drive to the Mitchell area near Route 3 and West Chain of Rocks Road where the attacks occurred.

She said the men then made her drive to a closed service station on Route 3 and let them out of the car. She drove home and called St. Louis police at 10:15 p.m. Monday to report the incident.

She was taken to Alexian Brothers Hospital, St. Louis, for treatment and was released.

2 drivers hurt on Orville Ave.

Two drivers were injured when their cars collided at Maryville Road and Orville Avenue at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Injured were Timothy Bennett, 20, of 2161 Cleveland Blvd., and Karen Gray, 32, of 2157 Robert St., the drivers. Bennett was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for pain to his head and neck but declined to be admitted. Karen Gray was injured, according to deputies, but was not among those listed as having been treated at the hospital.

Stock split by AMSTED

At a meeting of the AMSTED Industries board of directors Tuesday in Chicago, a quarterly dividend of $1 per share was declared payable March 15 to stockholders of record on Feb.

20, an increase of 11 per cent from the quarterly dividend of 90 cents per share paid in June, September and December 1975. The board also approved a two-for-one split of the company's common stock in the form of a 100 per cent stock dividend, effective at the close of business on Feb. 20.

Additional certificates representing one additional share for each share outstanding on that date will be distributed on March 22.

The cash dividend of $1 per share payable March 15 is equivalent to 50 cents per share on the shares to be outstanding after the stock split.

AMSTED owns the American Steel Foundries, including a major plant in Granite City.

At the annual meeting of stockholders, also held Tuesday in Chicago, AMSTED announced that income from continuing operations in its first fiscal quarter ended Dec. 31 amounted to $9,039,000, up two per cent from $8,855,000 in the comparable period last year.

Earnings per share rose to $3.83 from $3.32. Sales were $121,002,000, compared to $126,571,000 a year ago.

Joseph B. Lanterman, chairman, and Goff Smith, president, said, "Earnings were favorably influenced by a decline, from a year ago, in the prices paid for metal scrap, and by operating improvements at the cast iron pressure pipe plant in Florence, N. J."

Most of the sales decrease was attributable to a lower demand for railroad products. Shipments to the construction and building industry were down slightly from a year ago.

Sales of general industrial products were about equal to those in the first quarter of last year when an eight-week strike at the Indianapolis roller-chain plant had an adverse effect on shipments.

Additions to property in the first quarter were $4,600,000. On the basis of present plans, expenditures for property additions in fiscal 1976 and 1977 are expected to total more than $60,000,000, excluding acquisitions.

The accounts receivable balance at Dec. 31, 1975, was down from a year earlier—reflecting the decrease in sales and continued strong collection efforts, it was noted.

Inventories also were down from a year ago, in line with the reduced backlog of customer orders. It is anticipated that year-end inventories will be down somewhat from current levels.

AMSTED had no debt at Dec. 31 or at the end of the comparable period in the prior year. Stockholders re-elected three directors for three-year terms, elected a new director and ratified Price Waterhouse & Co. as the company's public accountants.

Those re-elected as directors were B. E. Phillips, president, Clark Equipment Co.; Goff Smith, president, AMSTED; and R. H. Wellington, executive vice president, AMSTED.

Elected as a director for the first time was R. T. Powers, chairman and president, Nalco Chemical Co.

Powers was elected to the board to replace W. A. Buzick Jr., who did not stand for reelection because of his new responsibilities as dean of the School of Business and Administrative Sciences at California State University.

Buzick had served as a director since 1973.

Stockholders were told that AMSTED's backlog of orders at Dec. 31 amounted to $193,000,000, compared to $211,000,000 at Sept. 30, 1975, and $368,000,000 a year ago.

Orders for freight car components decreased during the past year, but this continues to represent the single largest element of the backlog.

About 45,000 new railroad cars remain on order with the nation's carbuilders. The backlog of general industrial products is down significantly from last year, reflecting the general softening in demand, stockholders were told.

The smallest portion of the backlog continues to be represented by orders for construction and building products, primarily because of the low level of housing starts and commercial and industrial building projects.

Lanterman and Smith said, "Based on current estimates, it is anticipated that an improvement in the manufacturing economy may be experienced in the near future. This should result in increased sales of general industrial products.

"A modest increase in the level of housing starts is forecast for 1976 over 1975 and this will have a favorable effect on shipments of construction and building products.

"The railroad product line should experience a moderately lower level of business in fiscal 1976, based on our estimate that between 50,000 and 60,000 freight cars will be built in that period.

"Overall, we expect earnings in the 1976 fiscal year to be below last year's record high but substantially above any other prior year."

Sale of plants factor in Smith loss for '75

A. O. Smith Corporation lost $8,817,000, or $1.80 per share, in 1975, mainly due to the decision to discontinue or sell four operating units, L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer, announced Monday in Milwaukee.

In 1974, the company earned $482,000 or ten cents per share. Its plants include the auto frame production center in Granite City.

The loss on disposition amounted to $10,035,000, or $2.05 per share, for 1975, Smith said. During 1975, A. O. Smith sold its Armor Elevator Company's U. S. operations and sold the Meter Systems business effective Jan. 1, 1976. The company also announced plans to dispose of Armor Elevator Canada Limited and Bull Motors Limited in England.

A small gain on the sale of the Meter Systems business will be recorded in the first quarter of 1976, Smith said.

Operating losses on discontinued businesses in 1975 were $2,852,000, or 58 cents per share, of sales of $107,979,000. In 1974, discontinued businesses lost $3,611,000 or 74 cents per share, with sales of $109,854,000.

While combined earnings from continuing operations for 1975 were slightly below a year ago, this is entirely due to a large loss at A. O. Smith Harvester Products, Inc., a subsidiary, Chairman Smith said.

In the fourth quarter of 1975, however, earnings from continuing operations were ahead of the same period a year ago, Smith pointed out.

Profits from continuing businesses in 1975 were $4,070,000, or 83 cents per share, on sales of $451,813,000, compared with profits for the same businesses of $4,093,000, or 84 cents per share, with sales of $457,787,000, in 1974.

In the fourth quarter, profits from continuing operations amounted to $3,310,000, or 67 cents per share, up from profits of $2,206,000, or 45 cents per share, in the same period in 1974. Sales of continuing operations in the fourth quarter were $120,546,000 compared with $123,716,000 a year ago.

Harvester Products, which manufactures livestock feeding and processing systems, suffered from significantly lower demand and start-up costs of $2.9 million for a new 400,000-square-foot manufacturing plant. The drop in demand, Smith said, was the result of the national recession, rising costs of livestock farming and high interest rates.

All other continuing businesses reported improved results compared with 1974, he said.

A. O. Smith, with its subsidiaries and affiliates, is a diversified manufacturer. Its product line includes water heater equipment, electric motors, agricultural feed storage and handling systems, auto and truck frames, glass fiber reinforced plastic pipe, metal powder and computer services.

Members attending were Scott Sille, Paul Ramey, Donna Sanders, Glenn Rivenburgh, Tim Dickerson, Gary Ramey, Mike Anderson, David Ramey, Kathy Kelahan, Betsy Slate, Linda Canady and Robin Munz.

Guests at the dinner were Katherine Crumley, Teri Eck and Rosie Soelner.

The 26-year history of Explorer Post Six was reviewed by Donald Beck, post adviser, at the group's annual banquet at Fisher's Restaurant, Belleville.

Beck also thanked the leaders present for their work with the post.

Leaders and advisers in attendance were Mrs. Donald Beck, Thomas Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Alexander, Miss Lori Saucier, Brad Cowan and James Evans.

Members attending were Scott Sille, Paul Ramey, Donna Sanders, Glenn Rivenburgh, Tim Dickerson, Gary Ramey, Mike Anderson, David Ramey, Kathy Kelahan, Betsy Slate, Linda Canady and Robin Munz.

Guests at the dinner were Katherine Crumley, Teri Eck and Rosie Soelner.

YMCA marks 50th year in downtown building

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

The doors of the YMCA in Granite City opened in January 1926 and the first two youth members of the "Y" were present as the building's 50th anniversary was celebrated Tuesday night.

Dick Kerch, vice-president of R. Dron Electrical Co., and E. A. Karandjeff, president and trust officer of Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, the first two members in the YMCA building here, gave their recollections of the YMCA's growth since its opening.

The local YMCA was organized 57 years ago, but the building was not completed and opened until January 1926.

Kerch, the first member of the YMCA, recalled joining the "Friendly Indians" and later the "Pioneers."

He recalled bowling in the basement of the YMCA for 15 cents per line and M. G. Reinhardt, a former "Y" Board member, recalled being paid five cents per game for setting pins. The bowling alley no longer exists in the building.

Kerch also described a cafeteria which used to be operated in the basement of the "Y" by the operators of the former White Star Restaurant.

He remembered a group called the "Knotters" which used to meet at the "Y," take the streetcar to the McKinley Bridge and then walk to old Sportsman's Park to watch the baseball games.

"If your dad gave you 30 cents, you could really have a great time at the games," he said.

He also described a YMCA camp near Eureka, Mo., on the Meramec River. "Most kids only went for a week. My parents were glad to get rid of me. They sent me for the entire summer," Kerch joked.

He also recalled many evenings spent at the YMCA playing ping pong, pool, as a member of the Sir George Williams III-V group and at the Saturday night dances.

He said his good experience with the YMCA here led him to become a student representative on the board of directors of the YMCA at Champaign when he went to college at the University of Illinois. He also worked on the finance committee to help that community fund a new YMCA building.

Karandjeff, the second member of the local YMCA, recalled Kerch as having been the youngest Boy Scout to earn his Eagle Badge.

Karandjeff said he was unable to earn the badge because, "Everytime I jumped into the swimming pool here, they had to pull me out, all full of water."

He said when scuba diving classes were started, "It was the first time I could swim from one end to the other of the pool, but not without that scuba equipment."

Karandjeff also recalled many enjoyable evenings spent in the old YMCA bowling alley. The YMCA's executive director, Harold R. Rudolph, noted many programs were successful during 1975, including the remodeling program, Learn to Swim, Good Growth, the YMCA soccer program which had more than 700 youngsters participate, wrestling and judo team victories, square dancing, belly dancing and social dancing, a dog obedience course, the YMCA basketball program and the retired senior citizens volunteer program.

Karandjeff, the current president of the YMCA's board of directors, installed four of the five new members of the board, Louis Foster, Irvin Slate Jr., Wats Humphrey and Robert Vickers, who are all new members. John Blasingame, was unable to attend.

Karandjeff charged the new members with "accepting the responsibility for the YMCA members and the community at large. You will aid in the development of the highest standards of conduct. This will require evaluation and appraisal of all dimensions of the YMCA. I congratulate and welcome you."

Re-elected board members are Richard Allen, Jean Beatty, Donald Pierson, Earl Berg (current treasurer), Robert Ruppel, C. E. Townsend and Phillip Heath.

There are 24 hold-over members.

Appellate Judge George Moran presented awards to several persons, including Arthur D. Roseman, who retired after 41 years of service on the board.

Moran said of Roseman, "He is a person who has lived most of the history of the YMCA in our community. He has provided dedicated leadership by service on the executive committee, religious emphasis committee, senior citizens' committee and house committee. He also has served as vice-president of the association."

"His deep abiding Christian faith and concern for others has been exemplified during his service to the YMCA as well as other Christian organizations in our community."

GC man among 15 drug arrests

Fifteen persons, including a young man from Granite City, were arrested Tuesday morning as about 40 police officers from several departments in Madison County conducted simultaneous arrests at their homes.

The fifteen were served with warrants issued after a Madison County grand jury issued suppressed indictments against them earlier this month. Only one of those indicted could not be located Tuesday morning and was found later.

Among those arrested was George A. Rinkel Jr., 28, of 4010 Braden Ave., lot 9, who was taken into custody at his mobile home at 7:20 a.m. Tuesday. He was charged with unlawful delivery of a controlled substance (LSD) to an undercover officer earlier in the month. His bond was set at $15,000.

Granite City police and Madison County sheriff's deputies cooperated in the arrest.

A spokesman for the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois

(MEG) said the arrests were the result of a three month joint MEG and Illinois Bureau of Investigation undercover operation in Madison County during which agents alleged purchasing several kinds of drugs, including heroin and LSD.

Much of the investigation centered in the Alton area where about seven "middle level" dealers of heroin were arrested, the spokesman noted, explaining a "middle level" dealer is one who purchases quantities of drugs large enough to be divided and sold to smaller dealers.

Although most of the arrests were for sale of heroin or LSD, two brothers in South Roxana were charged with unlawful possession of marijuana after officers alleged finding about 60 pounds of marijuana in plastic bags in the attic of their home.

They were Donald Henebeck, 24, and Robert Gordon, 29, both of 306 Stephenson St., South Roxana. Their bonds were set at $25,000 each. A pistol and a rifle with a telescopic sight also were confiscated.

Navy reservist commended

Bonds for the others arrested range from $5,000 to $75,000, the MEG spokesman said, adding the larger bonds were for those charged with delivery of heroin.

Police departments cooperating in the raids, besides those already mentioned, were East Alton, Bethalto, Edwardsville, Alton and South Roxana.

Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron, who assisted in preparing for the arrests, said agents spent about $4,000 purchasing LSD, PCP, heroin, marijuana and amphetamines during the investigation.

Clayton J. "Jug" Harrison, Aviation Machinist Mate (Jet) Third Class, U.S. Navy Reserves, has been commended by Commander K. C. Juergens, commanding officer of Attack Squadron Two Zero Four, for "exemplary performance and dedication to duty" during a period extending from May 2, 1972 to the present time.

Harrison, a native of Granite City, was a member of the U.S. Navy for several years prior to joining the Navy Reserves. He is employed by the Granite City Street Department.

Members of the reserves are required to report for duty one weekend each month and spend two weeks on active duty each year.

Attack Squadron Two Zero Four is based at the Naval Air Station Memphis, near Millington, Tenn.

The commendation reads in part:

"It is with extreme pleasure and sincere appreciation that I take this opportunity to commend you for the dedication to duty you have shown while attached to Attack Squadron Two Zero Four.

"Although it is necessary for you to travel more than six hundred miles to attend drills, you have maintained perfect drill attendance since being assigned to Attack Squadron Two Zero Four on May 2, 1972. Through your diligence and dedication, you have successfully and rapidly changed your rate from seaman to airman, advanced to Aviation Machinist Mate (Jet) Third Class and qualified as a plane captain.

"The positive attitude and cooperative spirit which you consistently display is commendable and is a pleasure to others who work or come in contact with you. On several occasions you have volunteered to work, without compensation, during your off time in behalf of the squadron's interest. You have constantly carried out every assigned task regardless of how small or large in a most exemplary manner. Your outstanding personal appearance and military demeanor is an example that I would encourage all to follow.

"As Commanding Officer, and in behalf of the officers and men of the squadron, I thank you for your exemplary performance and encourage you to continue in the fine manner that you have displayed in the past."

Ordinance proposes City Council approval of amusement game licenses

Issuance of licenses for pinball machines and other amusement devices would be subject to City Council approval under an ordinance amendment placed on first reading by the council Monday night.

The proposed ordinance also provides that the locations of machines for which licenses are requested must be investigated by the Police Department under the supervision of the chief of police, and a report made to the mayor and the City Council.

If approved, the ordinance would amend section 13-04 of Chapter 13, Article IV, of the City Code pertaining to licensing procedures for operation of amusement devices.

In the past, such licenses have been issued automatically by the city clerk's office. Licenses cost $10 for each machine.

Before the bill was advanced to first reading, Alderman Warren Decatur said that he and Alderman Everett Morien had investigated the operation of pinball games at several locations and "the laws aren't being enforced."

He said that he found one business place in which seven machines bore no license stickers. At the same time, he said, youngsters "well under the age of 18" played the machines, although the ordinance provides that no one under 18 shall be allowed to patronize the devices.

"We're not trying to eliminate pinball games or other machines," Decatur said, "but I believe that the laws we already have should be enforced."

Decatur said that underage children also are permitted to play pool in at least one place he checked.

If the police are unable to handle the enforcement under the ordinance, then the ordinance should be revised to provide for other means, Decatur said.

The council also concurred in a letter by Elmer Miller, president of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, appointing Jimmie Brawley as a patrolman on the Granite City Police Department.

A notice that the city received $93,099 in sales tax from the state for the month of October was given the council. The

Citizen band radio taken man arrested

Levell Johnson, 24, of 61 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, has been charged with burglary to motor vehicle and criminal damage to property in connection with theft of a $190 citizen-band radio from an automobile on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus Monday.

University police said Johnson was observed entering a Mustang owned by Michael Johnson placed the radio in his van, police moved in and made the arrest, they alleged.

Police said the criminal damage charge stems from an antenna being broken off another vehicle to use in breaking into the Morton car. The other auto was owned by a Ford dealer at Alhambra.

Police also said they have cleared two other burglaries of motor vehicles on the SIUE campus Friday, a citizen-band radio, an eight-track stereo unit and tape taken from an auto owned by Gary Woolard of Alhambra.

Johnson was released on a $250 recognizance bond, pending a hearing.

County allows more time for assessment hearings

The Madison County Board of Review, which has been reviewing disputed tax assessments of property, is facing a massive workload this year. The Madison County Board was told at the County Board's regular meeting yesterday morning in Edwardsville.

In a letter to the county board, Andrew Gitchoff, chairman of the review board, requested a 30-day extension of time for the board to complete its work.

Hays Mallory of Edwardsville, board member from District 17, said he has been officiating the board's work beginning to evolve into a full year task as more and more appeals are filed.

He predicted the number of assessments appealed will increase even further when the county is forced to assess under the state's proposed equal assessment formulas. It was noted the state plan is under court review, especially the portion dealing with agricultural property.

Mallory suggested the County Board deny the review board more time. "This would be a good place to just cut it off," Mallory said.

Assistant State's Attorney Don "Zeke" Smith advised the board they could refuse to grant more time to the Board of Review, but said cases scheduled for hearing this year would be first on the board's agenda when it started again next year.

"The result would be a backlog of cases, like the court has, and there probably would be a lot of people paying taxes under protest," Smith predicted. He noted there is a new law limiting how much money the county can hold under protest and said the remainder would have to be released to the cities, townships and villages. He said if the county should lose the appeals, it would have to try to get the money back from the cities, townships and villages to be repaid to the persons who won the assessment cases.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township and board member from District 16, noted tax assessments for Granite City were published in Monday's Press-Record and Granite City residents have not yet had an opportunity to file their protests this year. Law gives property owners 20 days in which to file their protests.

He questioned whether the county should, or legally could, deny residents their rights to protest their assessments.

Smith responded, "They would still get their rights, but I don't know when." He added, "We are going to start tying up a lot of money under protest if you don't hear these cases."

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said she recognizes the seriousness of the problem and her office has already begun preliminary work connected with next year's assessment and preparation of tax bills.

"This should shorten our time next year," she predicted.

In other business the board: —Voted to seek bids for putting a snack center in the basement of the courthouse. The state will pay for the equipment, tables and chairs.

—Awarded a $250 per month contract to Orkin Exterminating Co. of Granite City for pest control in nine county buildings.

—Voted to seek bids for the control of pigeons and starlings around county buildings.

—Accepted a gift of six acres of property at Route 111 and the county's nature trail, donated by Keeley Brothers Construction.

—Reappointed Ralph Yemm and Sylvester Bugger to three year terms on the Madison County Mental Health (708) Board.

—Tabled action on a bill from Madison County Circuit Court for 35 sets of Illinois Revised Statutes costing a total of $4,800. Board members objected it was not necessary for each judge to have two sets and each county official have one set. The issue was referred to the legislative committee for a recommendation.

—Applied for renewal of the county's $7,800 state grant for comprehensive planning on housing.

—Authorized the filing with the federal Community Development program office the county's community development block grant application for $1,984,000.

The board also voted to change the date of its March meeting from the 17th to March 24. The March 16 primary election was listed as the reason for the change.

Bicentennial

east to west from Alton to Terre Haute and marking the southernmost progress of the Wisconsin Drift (glacier).

North of the divide the land was level, the soil deep and rich, while southward stretched the unglaciated rocky hills which limited agriculture and wealth.

To the north, land prices were higher and crop yields larger, supporting a greater degree of population concentration, schools, and businesses.

In the second place, the expansive, empty lands attracted a variety of people from the southern and northern portions of the United States as well as from Europe.

From the Carolinas, Virginia, Tennessee, and Kentucky the first settlers filled in the rich bottom lands south of the Moraine and fanned out into the wooded interior, bringing their southern characteristics, with them.

After the Erie Canal opened in 1825, however, the Great Lakes provided an entryway to the prairies for Northerners, Yankees, who did their best to transform Northern Illinois into a replica of the Northeast.

Adding to the base during the 1840s were Irish peasants who found work on the Illinois and Michigan Canal, and German pioneers driven from their homeland by famine and revolution.

By 1850, the population mix on the prairie was rich indeed, consisting of 334,000 nativeborn; 138,000 from the South; 112,000 from the Middle Atlantic states; 37,000 from New England; 110,000 from surrounding states in the Old Northwest; and 110,000 foreign-born.

Each group added to the composite that made up the Illinoisian.

Third, the new land encouraged mechanical ingenuity in its people as they sought to plow the tough prairie sod for the first time, to build and heat their homes or to fence their fields without wood, and to make the water of the sluggish prairie streams suitable for drinking.

Illinois residents, however, solved their problems by inventing and marketing the steel plow, well-drilling machinery, barbed wire, and prairie farm implements of all kinds to take advantage of the wealth of the soil and to make the prairies livable.

Two other traits of the new Illinoisian were a belief in democracy and an unconquerable optimism. Vesting most power in the legislative branch of government, eliminating all property qualifications for voting, and providing that nearly all officials be popularly elected, the constitution of 1818 exuded democratic practice.

At the same time, Illinoisians demonstrated a great faith in progress — a confidence in their ability to realize dreams.

By 1840, the sparsely settled state supported 12 colleges, a sign that frontier parents were optimistic about the future for their sons and daughters.

Further, land speculation was widespread and land prices high as nearly everyone was willing to gamble on the future of the new state.

Finally, economic opportunism rather than a commitment to a particular system or theory was an important characteristic.

The Illinoisian, like other frontiersmen, proved himself to be a practical realist, willing to follow whatever pathway promised the greatest returns. At times he believed in government assistance and even ownership, as he demonstrated in 1837 by supporting the Internal Improvements Act which pledged his fellow citizens to a $2,000,000 on a fantastic transportation network.

After that scheme collapsed, the Illinoisian became dedicated to laissez-faire, denouncing governmental control with a vengeance.

Typically American, the Illinoisian swung from left to right in economic matters, controlled by the opportunity of the day.

Thus, by 1850 there was an Illinoisian, molded by his prairie environment, enriched by the cultures of all sections of the United States and of Northern and Western Europe.

He was an optimistic problem-solver, a democratic idealist who sought success depended upon ability rather than birth.

The Civil War, the growth of Chicago, the entrance into the state of immigrants from southern and Eastern Europe and of blacks from the South, would call for a re-evaluation of the typical Illinoisian.

But the force of his antebellum ancestors in place by 1850 could not easily be ignored.

Club hears telephone history

Walter Lyman, an Illinois Bell Telephone Co. representative, was introduced by Mrs. Bonard Maples as the guest speaker at a meeting last week of the Ladies Coterie.

Comparing the nation's Bicentennial Year and the 100th year of the telephone, Lyman used a "time machine" film and slides to trace the history of the country and development of the telephone. In the "trip back in time," the group was guided through the social, economic and cultural changes in this country.

Mrs. T. C. Auderheide was hostess to 25 members and two guests who met at the First United Presbyterian Church. A dessert luncheon was served.

Mrs. David John gave the club collect and Mrs. James Fox recited the pledge of allegiance, followed by the group singing "God Bless America."

President Mrs. Alfred Page was in charge and announced, the Feb. 5 meeting will be held at the church, with Mrs. Emmett Beeler as hostess and Mrs. Marvin Eddington as program chairman.

Closing meditations were given by Mrs. Maples.

Jaycees take 22 on shopping trip

In a report to the Granite City Jaycees, Robert L. Burgess, chairman of the annual Christmas shopping trip for underprivileged children, said 22 youngsters were involved in this year's program.

Burgess said the sum of $35 was spent on each child who received new clothing items, according to his or her needs.

Businesses visited by the Jaycees and their youthful charges were P. N. Hirsch store and Leader Department store. The shopping trip was led by Mike Bledsoe, Jaycee president, assisted by Danny and Nancy Krause, Tom and Linda Holgrave, Dave Johnson, John Jones and Steve Anderson. Burgess reported.

Appreciation was expressed by the chairman to McDonald's Restaurant, which donated hamburgers and French fries to the children, and Burger Chef, whose management provided soft drinks.

The traditional shopping tour is among several benefit projects sponsored by the Jaycees with proceeds made through the annual "Bowling Sweepstakes" and other public participation programs.

Opti-Mrs. to elect officers

A slate of new officers for the Noon-Day Opti-Mrs. Club was presented at a luncheon meeting Monday at Charlie's Restaurant.

Dailey, chairman of the nominating committee, read the candidates' names.

President Mrs. Dave Brooks welcomed 28 members and Mrs. Gene Nelson gave the invocation. The club creed was recited by Mrs. Louis Frazier.

Mrs. Brooks announced the Optimist Club has invited the group to be guests at a Feb. 12 luncheon and Mrs. Irby Todd reviewed fund raising projects.

Officers nominated for election at a meeting at noon, Monday, Feb. 16 at Charlie's Restaurant, are:

Mrs. Doug Little, president; Mrs. Carl Rant, vice president; Mrs. Ernest Veil, secretary; Mrs. Floyd Mitchell, treasurer; and Mrs. Ted Auderheide, Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Dale Arnette, board members.

Hostesses Mesdames Nelson, Dave Giese, Todd, Leland Bickel and Henry Gabriel directed games and awarded prizes to Mesdames Arthur Roseman, E. A. Branding, Victor Anderson and David John.

Spring gardens is club topic

Mrs. Roy Hormann arranged a panel discussion featuring the introduction of new seeds and plants, which members of the Gardenaires plan to use in their gardens for a club meeting in the home of Mrs. Leo Schank.

A question and answer session followed, dealing with house plant problems.

Roll call was answered with information relating to the vegetable rutabaga.

President Mrs. Charles Kohl introduced Mrs. Richard Kerch as a new member and the group discussed reports to be made to the District chairman.

Members agreed to contribute a dollar per member to the Permanent Home Endowment Fund which is used to maintain the federated garden clubs' national headquarters, located in Shaw Gardens in St. Louis and contribute to the World Gardening Program.

Reports submitted were by Mrs. Abe Shannon on the cheer committee and Mrs. A. A. Kalkotki, mini-garden center chairman.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Earl Glenn presented a program on "What's New in Garden Tools." She gave the safety features of new tools and discussed power tools and their relationship to the environment.

Others attending were Mesdames C. E. Eads, R. K. Hintz, Thomas Layloff, William Long and a guest, Mrs. Donald Repp.

Mrs. Mary Kristian will host the Feb. 12 meeting.

Circle Three hears Rev. Robert Landes

A 10 o'clock dessert course was served to open the meeting of Circle Three in the parlors of the First United Presbyterian Church Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Corrine McCollum, chairman, presided and 14 members answered roll call.

The program was given by the Rev. Robert Landes, assistant pastor, who based his remarks on excerpts from the book, "Faith For The Times."

The studies are taken from the Book of Isaiah. Circle Three will next meet Feb. 17.

MRS. JOHN D. GRIFFIN, the former Miss Sherri Lee Holt, who was married at Nameoki United Methodist Church. She is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leland H. Holt, 2105 Garfield Ave. (Graham Photo)

Griffin-Holt wedding at Nameoki Methodist

Miss Sherri Lee Holt, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leland H. Holt, 2105 Garfield Ave., became the bride of John Douglas Griffin, a son of Navy Commander (ret.) and Mrs. H. J. Griffin, Hallsville, Mo., on Jan. 4 at Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Palms, white rosebuds and burning tapers in white hurricane candelabra on each side of the altar created the setting for the 4 p.m. double ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. Clair Clark of Elkhart, Ill., a friend of the bride's family, and the Rev. William D. Pester, pastor.

Pianist Mrs. William D. Harris and violinist Arthur Carss accompanied Mrs. Judy Schiebel, soloist. Nuptial selections included "Red River Valley," "Shenandoah," "Give Us This Day," "Hosanna," "With This Ring," "The Spirit of Jesus is in This Place," "My Own True Love" and "When They Ring the Golden Bells."

For her wedding, the bride wore an "old fashioned" ivory satin gown with a high neckline and long full sleeves, tightly cuffed at the wrists with tiny covered buttons.

The button trim was repeated on the bodice and down the front of the gathered skirt which extended into a cathedral train.

A small comb secured her cathedral-length veil of Chantilly lace and she carried a white Bible, topped with white rosebuds. Serving as train bearer was Chad Sanders.

Honor attendant Miss Lucy Renae Holt, a sister of the bride, chose a long gown fashioned with an imported eyelet embroidered bodice with a high neck, edged with matching ruffling.

The ruffling was repeated on the bodice to form a square yoke and trimmed the cuffs.

The skirt, created of regal blue satin, was encircled with a ruffled, the hemline.

The junior bridesmaid, Miss Jeanie Louise Holt, also a sister of the bride, wore an identically styled dress with a red satin skirt.

Each attendant held three long stem roses.

Cheryl Renee Wilkins, the flower girl, was dressed in an emerald green satin middy frock, complemented with a bonnet. She carried a natural colored basket of red rose petals.

Attending the groom as best man was Thomas Richard Graham. Bruce Edward Holt and Timothy Leland Holt, brothers of the bride, served as junior groomsmen and usher, respectively.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held in the church fellowship hall.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted at Howard Johnson's Restaurant in Collinsville.

Mrs. Holt, mother of the bride, selected a long pale blue dress with ivory lace trim. The groom's mother, Mrs. Griffin, was attired in a long black velvet gown. Both wore white rose corsages.

A 1972 graduate of Granite City High School, the former Miss Holt will graduate in May from the University of Missouri with a bachelor of science degree in home economics in the division of Child and Family Development.

The groom was graduated in 1971 from University High School, Columbia, Mo., and in December from the University of Missouri. He received a bachelor of science degree in Wild Life and Conservation.

They are now residing in Columbia, Mo., following a wedding trip to Nashville, Tenn.

Propose new automotive shop building at North

The Granite City Board of Education has granted permission to officials in the field of automotive repairs training to begin study on the possibility of constructing a new building at Granite City High School North for painting and repairing automobiles.

Robert F. Maxwell, vocational director for the school district, said a study was conducted last year which showed that a new auto shop is necessary and noted an automotive advisory committee was formed at that time and agreed with the recommendation for a new facility.

The North Central Association, which evaluates secondary school educational programs, also noted that a larger space is needed at GCIS North for working on vehicles and suggested the program be expanded into a two-story building to prepare students to complete school and go directly to work in the automotive field.

The present building is inadequate to house the program, Maxwell said, noting a new facility for the auto program would allow the metal shop to be moved into two-thirds of the existing automotive area and the remaining one-third could be arranged as a classroom.

The existing metal shop area could be divided into two additional classrooms, which are badly needed at the present time, Maxwell said. Tully A. Heubner, director of business affairs for the school district, noted that about $135,000 remains in the building fund from the last school bond issue which could be used for a new automotive building.

The Illinois Office of Education already has ruled the bond issue money could be used for the proposed building, board members were told.

Maxwell said the automotive committee and school officials who have studied tentative plans have agreed to construct a free-standing building, rather than attach it to the existing building.

Drainage problems, difficulties in anchoring it to the present building, and the danger of hampering future expansions at GCIS North were cited as reasons for this recommendation.

The area presently under consideration is along the north property line and near the Bowland parking lot. That area was set aside in the original master plan for North for construction of a vocational building, Maxwell explained.

He showed the board tentative plans for a metal building which could be constructed for the $135,000 available and could be completed quickly.

It was noted that construction of the building would be more feasible than sending students in the automotive field to the new J. B. Johnson Career Development Center in Alton. The estimated cost of sending 40 students to that center was $20,000. The district also would lose about $6,400 in vocational reimbursements from the state, for a total loss per year of about $26,400, plus 20 per cent of the costs of busing the students to and from the new facility.

Using the estimates for 40 students, Maxwell continued, the Granite City school district would save enough to pay for the new building in four years, if it decides to construct the building and not to send the students to the J. B. Johnson Center.

Maxwell noted the estimate of 40 students is probably low. On a recent survey, 130 sophomores and junior level students indicated they would like to take a vocational auto mechanics course next year and 78 others listed the program as a second choice, if one of their first choice classes was not available.

Most of the necessary equipment already is being used in the present automotive program, so the program could be moved into a new building

Steel shipments at low ebb, then gain

During November 1975, domestic steel shipments declined for the second consecutive month, dropping to their lowest total since July 1975. American Iron and Steel Institute figures showed that week. Domestic mills sent customers 5,703,000 tons of steel products during the month, compared to 6,377,000 in October and 8,431,000 tons during November 1974.

An upturn has been indicated for December.

The automotive industry was again steel's biggest customer in November, receiving 1,195,000 tons of steel, or nearly 21 per cent of total shipments during the month.

Steel shipments for the first 11 months of 1975 were 73,881,000 tons, compared to 102,119,000 tons shipped in the same period of 1974.

Of the 5,703,000 tons of shipments in November, 183,000 tons were exported, bringing total exports for the year to 2,771,000 tons.

During November 1975, steel imports rose again, reaching their highest monthly total in five months; 993,000 tons of foreign steel arrived in the United States during the month, up from 818,000 tons in October, and the largest import total since June's 927,000 tons.

Through the first 11 months of 1975, steel imports reached 10,860,000 tons, compared with the 14,061,000 tons of steel imported during the same period of last year.

Although total steel import tonnage was down on an 11-month basis, imports of specialty steels were up.

Also, foreign steel accounted for a larger share of the nation's apparent steel supply. Through the first 11 months, imports constituted 13.2 per cent of this country's total steel supply, compared to 12.7 per cent for the same period last year.

Specialty steel producers in this country have been under especially severe pressure from imports. In the first 11 months of 1975, imports constituted about 29 per cent of the stainless steel supply and almost 29 per cent of the tool steel supply, both figures up sharply from 1974.

For the 11 months, the value of steel imports was down 14.3 per cent compared with 1974. Nevertheless, by the end of November, this year's trade deficit in steel mill products exceeded $2 billion.

Employment in the domestic steel industry declined again in November 1975; 429,500 persons were engaged in production and marketing of steel, a decrease of 5,900 from October's 435,400.

In November 1974, employees engaged in the production and marketing of steel numbered 510,300. That total fell each of the following months, except September 1975, when employment increased 3,500.

Domestic steel producers paid out $601,417,000 in wages and salaries during November 1975, bringing the total for the first 11 months to $6,829,055,000.

Total employment costs per hour for employees were $11.39 in November, compared with a $9.68 average for 1974, including the costs of such employment benefits as pensions, insurance, supplemental unemployment benefits, the non-payroll portion of savings and vacation plan costs, and legally-required payroll taxes.

The Springfield Catholic Diocesan Office of Religious Education will conduct a six-week series of courses in religion for adults.

According to the Rev. Kevin B. Sullivan, diocesan director of religious education, the courses will begin the week of Feb. 1 in 17 locations throughout the diocese.

Registration will be held the first night of class. Those who wish to work toward diocesan teacher certification may apply for it at the time of registration.

The registration fee will include texts and materials for the classes.

In Granite City, the Rev. James P. Hill, pastor of Sacred Heart parish, will conduct a course entitled "The Mother of Jesus in the New Testament."

"This course will be concerned with the place of the Blessed Mother of Jesus in the Christian community and will deal with significant church beliefs about Mary," a spokesman said.

Toll-free line to Ill. Labor staff

A new source of information for Illinois workers has been opened with a toll free telephone line to the Department of Labor.

Starting this week, Illinois residents may call 800-252-4093 for answers to questions on nearly every topic affecting workers.

Callers can get the address of their local unemployment insurance or employment office, find out what the law says about working conditions, get figures on employment in the state, obtain Department of Labor publications or be directed to the personnel who can provide answers.

"The trained people who will be at these telephones will not have every answer to every question, but they will either have answers or know where they can be obtained," said Donald A. Johnson, director of the Illinois Department of Labor.

"Too often, the stone wall of bureaucracy stands between somebody who needs help and those of us who are paid to provide that help. We intend to knock that wall down," Johnson said.

The new free telephone line will be in operation from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Although residents will be able to obtain general answers to questions about unemployment insurance claims from the new service, there will still be another toll free number for specific information in unemployment insurance questions. That number—800-972-5786—will operate from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Registration will be held the first night of class. Those who wish to work toward diocesan teacher certification may apply for it at the time of registration.

The registration fee will include texts and materials for the classes.

"NO HARD FEELINGS" after 200 years," was one suggestion for a historic Granite City-to-London telephone call during the weekend, but instead Mayor Paul Schuler followed protocol in his trans-Atlantic conversation with an aide of the lord-mayor, Sir Lindsay Ring. A key to the city is being forwarded to London as a memento of the first local international direct distance dialing call. Mayor Schuler illustrates the

CONFIDENT CANDIDATES exchange views in Granite City Sunday. Mrs. Joanne Alter in campaign visit here

By WALTER STRANGE

Press-Record Staff Writer

A "Stevensonian Democrat" is the way Mrs. Joanne Alter of Chicago, an independent Democrat running for lieutenant governor with Governor Dan Walker, described herself Sunday afternoon in Granite City.

Mrs. Alter was the guest of Mrs. Julie Freedman, 2543 Cleveland Blvd., who is an independent Democratic candidate as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

After greeting and chatting with the nearly 30 women present at the "coffee" in her honor, Mrs. Alter spoke briefly as to why she is a candidate.

"I have been interested in politics since I was in high school and the job of lieutenant governor needs to be done and done effectively. Dan Walker will be re-elected by the people of Illinois and I can work with Dan, which my opponent Neil Hartigan has proven he can not."

"I am running for this office because I want to run for this office. I did not seek first to run for governor and then for secretary of state, and then told to leave the room and when I return have Mayor Daley tell me I was to run for lieutenant governor."

"The Democratic party has been closed too long to far too many of us, and women in particular. I appeared before the regular Democratic slating committee and did they ask me about my qualifications? No. They wanted to know about what my children did in an election against Mayor Daley."

"As a trustee of the Chicago Sanitary District with a multi-million dollar budget I feel I am qualified in this area. Gov. Walker is holding the line with the budget and has not raised taxes. The people of Illinois want good government and honest government and so do I."

"We need to outlaw 'double-dipping,' that is a term used, when legislators hold two or more jobs."

"We need to put an end to legislators being able to vote on bills in which they have a personal or financial interest," Mrs. Alter emphasized.

When asked where she expects to gain her voting strength, she answered confidently, "I think my backing is from the people. It has been in Chicago, where I have refused to crawl, sit up or play dead when told to do so by the Daley-controlled, so called 'regular Democratic organization.' I have a goal during the campaign and that is to shake the hands of 11 million Illinois people and ask them to support my campaign for political honesty within the Democratic party and the state."

"I need your help and support and I need for all of you to talk to your friends. Together we can open up the Democratic party once again to the people of Illinois and not to any one special interest group or 'political boss,'" she concluded. After telling everyone goodbye, she chatted briefly with Mrs. Freedman and Mrs. Anita Eftimoff, an independent Democratic candidate for State Representative of the 56th Legislative District.

Mrs. Alter then left to have dinner with Miss Evelyn Bowles, Madison county clerk, and Miss Eulalia Holz, deputy county clerk, in Edwardsville. Mrs. Alter then left for Springfield.

Air Force couple in Germany

An Air Force husband and wife — Technical Sergeant Larry N. and Airman First Class Anita L. Bell — have arrived at Bitburg Air Base, Germany, from Scott Air Force Base, Ill.

Larry Bell, an administrative supervisor, is the son of Mrs. Alice M. Marshall of Pontiac, Mich. Anita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Tegel, 2549 Lynch Ave., Granite City, is an inventory management specialist.

They are assigned to the 36th Combat Support Group, a unit of the U.S. Air Forces in Europe.

Member drive by association for retarded

The Illinois Association for Retarded Citizens held a statewide member unit development forum during the weekend in Springfield. Goal was to find more effective ways to obtain public participation in programs to help 340,000 mentally retarded children and adults living in Illinois.

Representing the Madison County Association for Retarded Citizens from Glen Carbon was Hershel Teller, president. Attending from Granite City was Wesley Metzger, first vice president.

In attendance from Alton was Thelma Hausfuss, administrative assistant for the association. Ronald Coffler, Godfrey, attended as a member of the state board of directors. The forum consisted of panel discussions aimed at assisting member units to secure and involve new members.

Special speaker for the day-long forum was Mrs. Caroline Gregory, president of the Georgia ARC, who evaluated the progress of the 1975 membership campaign in her state.

The membership forum was offered by the IARC as a means of instructing and stimulating representatives of the 102 state member units in their upcoming membership campaigns.

Plan survey of county mines

Members of the Cooperative Wildlife Research Laboratory, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, will conduct a survey of sites of underground coal mines, both active and abandoned, in the Madison County area during the next few months.

The study will involve locating all mine sites, determining the size of affected sites and current ownership, and establishing the presence of gob, slurry, and other debris.

Hopefully, this information will be useful in identifying and renovating environmental problems resulting from underground mine sites, officials said.

Residents of Madison County who know the location of abandoned underground coal mines are asked to contact Michael Sweet, 720 Edwards St., Carlinville, 62626.

Special registration scheduled

A series of special temporary registration centers in which deputy clerks will accept voter registrations from those who are qualified to vote but are yet unregistered will be held in the Quad-City area through the second week of February.

The registration centers were scheduled by County Clerk Evelyn Bowles who said that Feb. 16 is the deadline for registering to vote in the March 16 primary elections.

Those eligible to register, if they have not already done so, are persons 18 years of age or over who have lived 30 consecutive days in Illinois and 30 days in the precinct in which they live. Deputy clerks at the temporary centers also will accept record changes, such as change of name by marriage or legal action.

Miss Bowles said voters who already are registered should check their voters registration (pink) cards to be sure they are registered from the addresses in which they now live. If a voter finds the address is different, the change of address may be noted on the reverse side of the card which then should be signed and mailed to the County Clerk's Office, Edwardsville.

If a voter has lost his pink registration card, a duplicate may be obtained only at the Edwardsville office, Miss Bowles said.

The full schedule of special registration centers in the Quad-Cities is as follows:

Citizen role in curbing crime to be emphasized

"Hands Up-A National Volunteer Effort to Halt Crime," an all-day special developed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC) for the purpose of examining ways to prevent and reduce crime, will be broadcast by WSIE-FM on Monday, Jan. 26.

The morning session will be aired from 8:30 to 11, and the afternoon session is scheduled from 12:30 to 4. WSIE-FM (88.7) is owned and operated by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Through the "Hands Up" sessions, the GFWC, consisting of 13,067 women's groups, hopes to create a national awareness of the citizen's role in reducing crime.

The GFWC has been working on a crime reduction effort since last July under a grant from the Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

A cross-section of U. S. society will be represented by the program's 200 participants. The list will include GFWC delegates from around the country, specialists from the criminal justice field, policy leaders from national social service agencies and ex-offenders.

In the morning session, conference participants will be divided into 10 groups. Each group will devise and debate suggestions for reducing crime. In the afternoon, the groups will gather into one large group to determine a final set of anti-crime recommendations.

During the last hour of the "Hands Up" presentation,

The Women's Division of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce met for dinner at Charlie's Restaurant. Mrs. Janet Partney, president, announced the division will enter two units in the Bicentennial parade here July 3.

Bicentennial scarves and pins were distributed to the members for sale to the public. The red, white and blue scarves sell for $4 and the Liberty Bell pins for $1.25.

Mrs. Mary Jesse, treasurer, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Lillian Douglas, a certified social worker who is the office coordinator of Coordinated Youth Services.

Mrs. Douglas explained programs being administered by the agency. Besides social work and counseling, an alternative school with a physical education program is being offered with a one student to one teacher ratio.

Sixty-five youths come into the Granite City office daily, and there are also new offices in Madison and Pontoon Beach, she related. An ecology program helps to earn funds for youth programs through collection of newspapers, bottles and aluminum cans sold for recycling.

A youth-adult involvement program of the CYS enables adult volunteers to spend time as a "big brother" or "big sister" with young people. A newly initiated CYS program is related to the high school work-study program, in which a youth spends four hours a day in school and four hours working in an area business.

Plans are being formed for a program to be called WIC, it was related; the program is intended to eliminate malnutrition in women, infants and children.

Attending the meeting were Mesdames Evelyn Alford, Jeannette Scannell, Pauline Seebold, Mary Sedekum, Norma Schroeder, Kay Hall, Jo Meyer, Billie Schuler, Delores Waelty, Alice DeMoulin, Marilyn Lunsford, Lois Winter, Pauline Dubish, June Van Horn, Golda Dickey, Marti Kiser, Bonnie Sullivan, Partney, Jesse and Dr. Felicia Koch and Miss Dorothy Davis.

Coming events for seniors

Rules of the Roads classes will be held Feb. 3, 4 and 5 at 7 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center, 1938 Edison Ave. for any retiree who is preparing to take a driving test. Edgar Paddock, president of the Granite City Township Senior Citizens Club, announced this week.

Instruction will be given free to senior citizens by the club president, Delbert McKissick, and Oscar Ash, it was reported. Craft sessions for senior citizens will be conducted by Mrs. Eleanor Patterson of the YMCA Senior Club each Friday at the local center.

Paddock said the 1975 "circuit breaker" forms for senior citizens and disabled persons, who filed in 1974, have been mailed. Additional forms will be available when printed, the Senior Action Center in Springfield has notified the local group.

Sixty priests, including seven Monsignori, preceded the bishops and celebrants in the procession from the rectory to the church prior to the mass. Bishop McNicholas addressed

Two bishops, 60 priests and over 200 former parishioners and church members participated in the celebration.

Father Enright served as pastor of Sacred Heart until his retirement in August 1974.

Concelebrating the mass with Bishop McNicholas and Father Enright were the Rev. James P. Hill, current pastor of Sacred Heart; the Rev. James P. Neuman, associate pastor; and the Rev. Gerald J. Griffin, who served as associate pastor under Father Enright.

Also participating in the ceremonies were Bishop William A. O'Connor and the Rev. Msgr. Paul Sheridan, a native Granite Cityan and chancellor of the Springfield Diocese, who served as master of ceremonies.

Father George Windsor, a personal friend of Father Enright, gave the homily and Father Robert Meier of Taylorville led the clergy and congregational singing. The Rev. Mr. Michael Inyart, dean of Sacred Heart, gave the welcome and Prayer of the Faithful.

An open discussion with parents followed their talks. The opening flag ceremony, led by Cub Scout Bradley Hart, was followed by the pledge of allegiance and PTA prayer.

President Mrs. Ruth Jorgensen presided and reported Sturgis School will host the PTA Area Council meeting tonight.

Mrs. Audrey Ribbing, membership chairman, announced completion of a membership drive. The unit now has 88 members, she said.

A committee consisting of Shirley Gaudette, Becky Williams and Wilma Bowen, was appointed to select an "outstanding" PTA member who will close Feb. 2, and a school valentine party Feb. 13, with room mothers serving refreshments at 2 p.m. Student pictures will be taken at the school on Feb. 6, it was reported.

The afternoon kindergarten class won a $5 cash gift for having the largest percentage of parents present. Adult prizes went to Beth Bladick and Barbara Chaney.

Mrs. Jorgensen reminded the parents of changes in meeting dates. The board will meet Feb. 5 and a regular meeting is set for Feb. 26.

Refreshments were served by second grade room mothers.

Cloverview hears annual report

Mrs. Richard Branding, president of the Cloverview Garden Club, read her annual report at a club meeting last week. The report will be forwarded to Mrs. James Dawson, state president of the Garden Club of Illinois, Inc., listing the accomplishments of the local group.

Mrs. B. C. O'Neill was hostess to the club, serving a dessert luncheon in her home, 2102 Pontoon Road.

Mrs. Fred Orr was appointed treasurer, replacing Mrs. Joseph Ochso, who is moving from the city. Mrs. Ochso invited the group to meet at her home in Worden, Ill., in June.

The president announced the Chicago Flower and Garden Show will be staged at McCormick Place, March 20 through March 28. Entitled "Happy Birthday," the show's Bicentennial theme will focus on "America The Colorful."

"The Indispensable Herb" was the program given by Mrs. John Jenkins. She discussed herbs most frequently used in cooking, including basil, chives, rosemary and parsley.

Mrs. Orr read a paper on litter control, issued by the Garden Club of Illinois, and the "show and tell" exhibit featured plants brought by members, suitable for hanging baskets.

Mrs. Jenkins, 2442 Lynch Ave., will entertain at the February meeting.

Also present were Mrs. Eldon Meikamp, Mrs. John Lentz, Mrs. Charles Ganderla, Mrs. George Knapp and Mrs. Robert McCaully.

Joey James at Sacred Heart

A "Come Sing With Us" program at Sacred Heart school auditorium at 7 p.m. Sunday will spotlight the talents of Joey James, according to the chairman, Mrs. Margaret Kwiatkowski, chairman of the project.

Leader of the Joey James Band, a five-piece musical ensemble, the native Granite Cityan performs on the accordion, piano and cello.

The public is invited to join in the program and "sing-along" with James, Mrs. Kwiatkowski said. Music to be played will appeal to all age levels, she added.

A $1 donation will be asked at the door for the three-hour program. Refreshments will be available at extra charge, including beer, soft drinks, popcorn and sandwiches.

The Joey James Band has played at many area functions and performed at the Governor's Ball in Springfield. The group also will provide music at the Granite City Bicentennial Celebration and Mayor's Ball on Sunday, Feb. 1 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"Everyone is invited to join us Sunday," Mrs. Kwiatkowski said. Proceeds from the sing-along will be used to help finance various projects within the parish, she explained.

Master plan would deny college to deserving students—Vadalabene

Statement of Senator Sam M. Vadalabene Thursday in a state college master plan hearing at Springfield.

Over the past several years, I have become sensitive to a number of criticisms of the policies and operations of the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

I have myself given voice to many concerns that have been expressed to me about the impact of BHE actions on public education in the area I represent.

A large part of my district is in the second most populous area of Illinois, the eastern segment of the metropolitan St. Louis area.

Without detailing the plethora of problems we currently face, and not mentioning the hopes and aspirations of the lower- and middle-income citizens, I can only say that the future of the area is completely bound to the fullest possible development of all educational resources presently at command.

From my standpoint, the worst enemy to this development is the Board of Higher Education.

The master plan under discussion here is so devoid of sensitivity, decency and understanding to the problems we bear and the dreams we dream that I will not dignify it with comment on specifics.

It is the product of mediocre, bureaucratic mentalities indulging in the figments of a mechanistic imagination.

It has about as much relevance to the present and future needs of the area I must answer to as the flight plan of a Kamikaze pilot.

Like our contemporary weaponry, however, this plan is more sophisticated than those planes which at least needed a human being to direct them to the target they were trying to destroy.

In the recommendations on increase of tuition, this plan includes a built-in self-destruct mechanism that will automatically insure the drastic deterioration of our institutions of higher learning, without any further help from the staff of the Board of Higher Education.

It is a well-known fact that enrollment figures at our colleges and universities have been going down in the recent past.

Any number of reasons may be put forward for this, but one certain and unimpeachable one is that education is simply being priced off the market for all except the considerably affluent.

This has posed grave problems for private education. More important, however, it represents a cruel abrogation of a public responsibility.

We now see the doors to our public institutions being effectively closed to ever-enlarging segments or our middle classes.

If Illinois is to continue to offer itself to our nation as a progressive, civilized state, this condition cannot be allowed to continue.

Though we have been dragged through years of double-digit inflation and soaring unemployment by a flint-hearted national administration, we must continue to assert priorities on our part based on humane, decent values.

That means that we must do all that we can to insure access to educational resources to the highest level to which our citizens might aspire.

Although the master plan is founded on utilitarian, pragmatic values to the core, let us hope that there are other people in this state who recognize formal education as a good in itself.

Let us proclaim to the world that our schools offer to every citizen the potential for being a wiser participant in public affairs and a happier human being in the full growth of his own life.

If we are to realize this—a hard ideal to bring to actuality, I admit—we must begin to roll back the basic costs of higher education for those who want to take advantage of this precious public resource.

That means, even in this time of severe fiscal stress, that we must attempt to cut costs elsewhere.

The fact is that students are the soul-food that enables our colleges and universities to prosper and grow. Declining enrollments mean dying institutions.

There are enough forces loose in the land making it more difficult for students to go to our colleges and universities without our putting into effect a policy that in a vast number of cases would erect a difficulty into an impossibility.

This self-destruct mechanism in the recommendations of the board is even a little more complex, in fact. As an elected official, I am frank to admit that I am a politician; I consider politics, practiced diligently and responsibly, a worthy art.

STUDENTS OPPOSE TUITION HIKE. Toni Failoni of Granite City, a junior in computer science at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, says she is against any hike in tuition. Currently, the Illinois Board of Higher Education is proposing that all students in state-supported colleges and universities pay for their instructional costs. For SIUE students, this would mean a 58 per cent hike for resident undergraduates and a 92 per cent hike for resident graduate students. She works in the SIUE Alumni Services office and she uses that money to pay her tuition.

Car hits pole, driver hurt

James Garriss, 31, Cahokia, was injured when his car left the roadway, traveled 70 yards, stood in its front end and struck a utility pole on Route 182 at the curve east of Stallings School at 11:10 p.m. Friday.

Garriss and a witness said an oncoming car approached the Garriss vehicle and both swerved to avoid a head-on collision. The other car also left the roadway, but regained control and left the scene without stopping.

Garriss was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with abrasions to his nose and forehead and injuries to his head and neck. Garriss was charged with driving while his license was suspended.

student with the stick of a tuition increase.

This is the measure of concern which the Board of Higher Education, which was meant to foster and guide higher education, shows for the precious state resource given to its care.

"I don't think we can wait for the Lord to wreak his vengeance on such stupidity and irresponsibility.

We must take legislative steps, backed up by the executive, to show our citizens—particularly the poor and the middle-income—that we are aware of their burdens.

Let's show some decent gratitude for those who have continued with their professional dedication in a period of declining appreciation.

With this master plan, in my judgment, the Board of Higher Education has come to us with proposals emblematic of moral bankruptcy and civil senescence.

If our higher educational system, built with such labor and care over the years, has such friends, it might as well forget about its enemies.

Pontoon crime, arrests show sharp rise in 1975

Crime and calls for police were up nearly 60 per cent in Pontoon Beach between 1974 and 1975, but arrests increased nearly 142 per cent during the year, an annual report by Chief of Police Roosevelt Bennett Jr. to the Pontoon Beach Village Board has disclosed.

There were 765 arrests in the village during 1975, which was 450 more than the 315 arrests the previous year, the report showed.

Traffic arrests accounted for 607 of the 1975 total, up 396 from the 1974 total of 211, but arrests for other crimes was up nearly 32 per cent, from 104 in 1974 to 138 last year, an increase of 34 arrests.

Burglaries in the village increased 46 per cent between 1974 and 1975, from 80 to 117, but Pontoon Beach Chief of Police Roosevelt Jr. explained some of the additional 37 burglaries occurred in territories annexed by the village since 1974, accounting for some difference in the figures. "Burglary is up everywhere in the country," he added.

He said many of the dwellings in the newly annexed territories are apartments and mobile homes, "which are more susceptible to burglary because of poor locks, doors and windows," Bennett added.

Armed robberies increased drastically. There were none in 1974 and eight in 1975, but Bennett said, "There are five or six of those we have either solved or think we will solve soon."

There was one murder in each year. The 1974 murder was solved, however, while the 1975 murder is still under investigation.

Rape was down from three reported cases in 1974 to none last year, and the number of strongarm robberies declined from two to zero in the same period.

Arson was the same, with one case each year, as were the numbers of minor thefts with 44 cases each year. Auto theft cases were up by four, from 13 in 1974 to 17 last year, and an increase of four cases also was reported in the aggravated battery category, up from five to nine.

Battery cases increased from 11 to 17, up six cases. The number of aggravated assaults was down from two in 1974 to one in 1975.

Attempted break-ins were up from 24 to 32, an increase of eight, while the number of auto accidents climbed 35 per cent, from 102 to 138.

Auto burglaries were up from 39 to 48, bike thefts increased from 21 to 29. Civil disturbances were up from five to 17, primarily due to a change in the method of record keeping, Bennett said.

Other categories showing increases, with the 1974 and 1975 totals, in that order, were: death reports—one to two; lost items, 21 to 34; missing persons, 25 to 31; motorcycle thefts, eight to 17; drug reports, one to two; shoplifting, one to nine; tavern disturbances, two to 13; vandalism, 45 to 71; vehicle tow reports, 11 to 16, and miscellaneous reports, 141 to 168.

Decreases were noted in dog bite cases, from 12 to nine; prowlers, two to one; major theft cases, 17 to seven, and robberies, two to zero.

There were no suicides reported in the village either year, Bennett's report showed. Due to a change in the method of keeping records, it could not be determined if the number of family disturbance cases had increased or decreased. Thirty-four cases were reported during 1975. No records were available for the previous year.

The number of log book entries, including telephone calls and complaints taken at the police desk, increased from 2,678 in 1974 to 3,414 in 1975, an increase of 736.

Health Systems board includes able Quad-City members

The Health Systems Agency approach that is being followed continues to raise some questions in Quad-City's minds. But there is a degree of comfort in the fact that the 60-member board includes Ted Ellerman, St. Elizabeth Hospital, executive vice-president, Eugene Hudson, Granite City Steel employee benefits supervisor, and Madison Mayor Sayre, a busy official who also serves on the other two major regional bodies, the Bi-State Development Agency and the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

Several other Madison County residents also have been named to the board of directors, which will meet quarterly. The 25-member executive board, expected to meet monthly, is to be chosen Feb. 11 along with initial HSA officers.

A tug-of-war between health authorities and governmental officials for control of HSA has not been fully resolved, and the latter at the Jan. 14 meeting sought a guarantee that their one-fifth portion of the board will be duplicated proportionately on the executive body.

Principles forming the basis of this week's initial federal application include that the HSA will be a not-for-profit corporation governed by an autonomous board with authority to control its budget, hire its staff and establish and implement an area-wide health plan.

It will supplant the present Bi-State Regional Medical Program, Health Delivery Systems and Alliance for Regional Community Health.

There will be an annual unified work program, prepared by both HSA and the Gateway Council (bi-state public officials), and the two agencies will enter into a yearly contract for services to be performed, based on the work program.

HSA will contract with Gateway for those planning and data collection activities the Gateway Council currently has under way, or which are not directly health care and fall within the scope of Gateway's comprehensive planning program. Examples include socio-economic data, population projections, transportation, housing and environmental planning, such as water quality and solid waste disposal.

The health agency also may be practicable will contract with Gateway for administrative services, possibly including payroll, accounting, reproduction, graphics, purchasing, data processing, legal services, personnel services, public information functions and participation in Gateway's fringe benefit program. The HSA will utilize Gateway's Regional Forum (citizens) as one source of public input to the health planning process.

There is no doubt whatever that elaborate steps have been taken to include in the governing group a wide cross-section of the public, including various health care providers and consumers.

Whether the agency can do a good job of distributing hospital and other grants and monitoring numerous health policies for this large a region will be its chief test.

A potential cloud on the horizon, developing even before its formation has been completed, is St. Louis County Supervisor Gene McNary's announced plan to challenge the HSA board's makeup of 30 Missourians and 30 Illinoisans as a violation of the "one man, one vote" concept.

Avoid impairment of rights in new federal criminal code

Press-Record Washington Bureau—The heated national debate that occurred when Congress settled down to business to revise the federal criminal code, as proposed in Senate Bill 1, is not at all unusual.

The bill is massive, containing 750 pages and 4,115 sections. It is complex, touching on a panoply of social misbehavior in the United States.

Some parts of it are bad, bringing out staunch opposition. And S-1 offers many tempting opportunities for rhetoric among individuals or organizations who seek to advance their various causes — rights groups, lawyers, the media and others.

Despite its high profile, most of S-1 is not controversial, but deals with technical details. Indeed, it generally is recognized that the federal criminal code is in drastic need of codification and reform.

There has been no complete revision of the code in our 200-year history. Instead, the federal criminal law has accreted into a hodgepodge of contradictory, conflicting and imprecise statutes with questionable relevance to each other or to the federal code as a whole.

Consequently, the application of federal justice has invited judicial interpretation and definition and often is uneven across the country.

On the other hand, our recent national experience with the Watergate affair exhibits that the United States should not impose restrictions on freedom of speech and press that do not already exist. S-1 would do exactly this in national security matters by such ambiguous provisions that no one could "communicate" national defense information to foreign powers or other persons.

The code conceivably stops reaching from even reporting waste in the Pentagon. Another section would make it a crime for any present or former federal employee to disclose any classified information to an unauthorized person, but would not set adequate limits on what can be classified. Still another section requires reporters to disclose their sources of information to federal courts.

S-1 has been in the works for more than 10 years. It is the product of honorable men of good will. Most of its provisions are urgently needed to insure equity and justice; as much as possible of the measure should be saved.

Thus the issue resolves to two questions. Can provisions of the bill dealing with technical matters be severed from those dealing with civil rights? And is this massive and complex measure that has been a subject of controversy for a decade small enough to make amendments practicable?

We think the answer to both questions is yes — that Congress should both divide the bill into two parts and amend those parts that would result in a retrogression of civil rights.

Time to remove unfair shackles on normal growth pattern

A community service club discussion this week revives hope for a more responsible stand by the Madison County government and Northwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission regarding the future of this community.

A succession of SIMARPC assistant planners succeeded a few years ago in persuading the County Board to develop a land use plan calling for unlimited growth atop the bluffs and placing a developmental strait-jacket around the Quad-Cities.

The early-1970s action was an extension of the original county land use enactment in 1964, when agricultural designations were assigned to undeveloped territory as a "convenience," supposedly without prejudice to future construction proposals. The discussion somehow became badly confused several years ago, with specific development proposals being injected as an issue, and even the question of potential public school requirements becoming entangled in the debate. Public meetings became heated, and some were attended by persons with extreme views who packed the halls despite having no ties whatever with this community or county.

Jack Frandsen SIMARPC president and this week's Granite City Rotary speaker, indicated county willingness to look into the existing ban on use of a four-mile-wide "green belt" between Illinois Highways 111 and 157.

Mr. Frandsen said accurately that any kind of terrain can be developed effectively and harmlessly if the task is done right, and that he is sympathetic to discarding the blanket prohibition, favoring instead decisions based on the specific facts of a proposal.

While valid constraints need to be kept in mind, it is long overdue that officials and planners get their feet back onto the ground and abandon their "death sentence" to the Quad-Cities, just as the state and federal governments backed off from their unreasonable apprehensions of persons who had broken into the building.

If the facts were placed on the table and dispassionately evaluated — rather than the "deck being stacked" against the Quad-Cities in most recent deliberations by non-elected theoreticians far removed from actual "pluses and minuses" of this area — it seems doubtful that the virtual ban on new development should or could be maintained.

Advertising helps promote sales competition, maximum choice

By RICHARD L. LESHNER
President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

Item: According to Rep. Frederick W. Richmond (D-N.Y.), "demand is artificially created through advertising which is tax deductible, and so comes out of the consumer's pocket."

Congressman Richmond (and various consumerists and economists) believe advertising adds unnecessarily to consumer prices.

Item: Ralph Nader, "I'd move decisively on getting rid of State regulations... those that prohibit pharmacies from advertising prescription prices, for example, and those that prohibit opticians from advertising eyeglass prices. Barriers of that kind are put up by businesses that want to protect themselves from competition."

Ralph Nader, the Federal Trade Commission, and various consumerists and economists believe advertising can promote competition and hold down prices.

Goodness gracious, what's a body to think? Does advertising increase prices or restrain them? And why can't the "consumerists" agree with one another on the point?

To an economist of the neoclassical school — one who believes in the aggregate infallibility of the free market — the question is easily settled: In the absence of coercion, businesses would not continue to spend significant sums of money on a practice with no economic utility.

In other words, businesses advertise because they have found it helps them earn a profit, and the urge to earn a buck is what keeps them in business.

What about the argument that advertising "makes" us want things we don't really need? I've always thought that people who subscribe to this view have a very conspicuous opinion of the mental abilities of their fellow human beings.

I don't think advertising creates new cravings in us — at least not in any basic way. It can, and does, play on existing needs and emotions. But then so does entertainment, or art, or music. In this sense, advertising can make us aware of a greater variety of ways to satisfy our differing tastes.

There are two other criticisms of advertising which are much more sophisticated than the "consumerist-innocent-sheep" line of reasoning.

The first is that advertising creates barriers to the entry of new firms — at least in industries where heavy consumer advertising campaigns are the norm. A new challenger, so the argument goes, cannot raise the millions of dollars necessary to compete with the ad budgets of the established giants.

But even if this were true — and the evidence on the point is clear-cut — who should advertising costs be any more of a barrier to entry than any other kind of capital outlay?

The high cost of equipment could be called a barrier to entry in the steel industry, the high cost of exploration a barrier to entry in the oil industry, etc.

The second sophisticated argument against advertising is that nonprice advertising creates brand loyalty, which distracts consumers from choosing the lowest-cost product, thereby reducing price competition.

Also, a company that pays a lot for advertising is going to invest the money in promoting its winners, not its losers — therefore, the best buy may well be the most heavily advertised product.

Which side am I on? I believe in competition and maximum free choice in the marketplace — and I believe advertising promotes both. That doesn't mean, however, that I haven't had an occasional urge to put my foot through the TV screen when an especially tasteless or obnoxious commercial comes on.

In rebuttal to this theory, it can be argued (and is, by economist Philip J. Nelson of the State University of New York) that even nonprice advertising informs consumers of possible substitutes for their customary choices, thereby increasing competition.

Also, a company that pays a lot for advertising is going to invest the money in promoting its winners, not its losers — therefore, the best buy may well be the most heavily advertised product.

Which side am I on? I believe in competition and maximum free choice in the marketplace — and I believe advertising promotes both. That doesn't mean, however, that I haven't had an occasional urge to put my foot through the TV screen when an especially tasteless or obnoxious commercial comes on.

Aviation safety factor being cited

Testimony before the Secretary of Transportation by William S. Badgley, chairman, St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority, at last week's hearing.

Mr. Secretary, I am William S. Badgley, chairman and chief executive officer, First National Bank of Belleville, and chairman of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority.

I have been a member of the authority since its inception in 1970.

At that time, we decided first to determine whether a new regional airport is needed and, if so, to find the best possible site in the entire region for development.

We assembled what we believe is the best team of staff and consultants available to analyze these questions.

The conclusions were — and are — that a new airport is needed and that the preferred site is near Columbia-Waterloo, Ill.

This position was backed by the mayor of St. Louis and the city's consultants.

Thereafter, provincial viewpoints surfaced and certain Missouri interests took the position that the airport should be developed in Missouri, not Illinois.

When after considerable additional study it became clear that there was no feasible site in Missouri, these same parties advised the position that St. Louis did not need a new airport at all.

Then, the Lambert 2000 Plan for major expansion was proposed. After analysis demonstrated that this plan was infeasible, it was abandoned. The proposal for expanding Lambert Field is the Parsons master plan.

I believe this plan inadequate and infeasible even assuming that aviation activity will grow more slowly than previously projected. We will submit written testimony summarizing these findings and analyses.

The Missouri authority has continually stated that our application should not be approved because Missouri residents do not want a new airport.

For example, the Missouri authority has stated that its recent poll shows "89 per cent of all residents who live within a five-mile radius of Lambert Field want Lambert to remain the St. Louis area's major airport."

That is certainly no surprise, since the poll assumed that the site of the airport should be within a five-mile radius circle around Lambert rather than the narrow elliptical noise zone, nearly two-thirds of the houses in the area surveyed were outside the boundaries of the high noise area.

Similarly, the 1972 Missouri referendum was based on the official promises in the Lambert 2000 Plan — a plan which employed the highest passenger forecasts ever used in any plan for future St. Louis airports.

Needless to say, the plan was expanded to rival the new airport at Dallas-Fort Worth.

It is easy to see why Missourians preferred staying at Lambert as long as possible and then moving to another Missouri site.

While we believe that an endless flow of misinformation has now made it impossible to conduct a reliable poll, we think the best available barometer of public opinion is a survey conducted in the five-day period immediately prior to the 1972 referendum.

That survey, conducted by a St. Louis, Mo., firm, showed that 1.97 per cent of the Missouri residents interviewed felt that it is vital to the future economic welfare of the St. Louis region to have an adequate airport and aviation facilities."

It is a fact concluded that if the facts show that Lambert cannot be expanded, they would prefer building a new airport to not building one if it meant a decline in the economic growth in the St. Louis region.

Mr. Secretary, I stated that I preferred "that a new airport... be built on the best site possible in the region in terms of convenient access, air space, environmental impact and overall beneficial impact on the St. Louis region."

My second responsibility, like that of Missourians, like that of Illinoisans, want the airport decision based on its merits and that they do not want to stay at Lambert if its facilities are inadequate.

We are confident that the airport decision will be made by you on its merits.

While I am not an expert in the many technical areas involved, our consultants have been reviewing all available data and analyzing in depth the recent Peat Marwick report.

Where necessary, additional analysis has been undertaken. Our staff and consultants have serious disagreement with a number of the basic findings in the report which could affect your decision.

We will file a complete presentation prior to your deadline.

One final point — regarding safety.

Safety is a very difficult and sensitive issue to discuss for all of us, especially the Department of Transportation and the airlines whose pocket book may ultimately pay the damage claims.

The recent rash of "near misses" indicate operations undertaken within even current "margins of safety" are not riskless.

In addition, the fact remains that certain physical aspects of Lambert Field — which will not be altered by even costly improvements — present serious safety hazards.

Nonetheless, any proposal which calls for pushing the airport to its extreme capacity limits, and beyond, increase the risk of human as well as technical or mechanical error.

All we ask is that your decision be based on the merits of this case. We are pleased to hear your decision will not be reached until the hearing record is complete and our written testimony thoroughly reviewed.

We are confident such a review will show that our application should be approved after due consideration of all technical, legal, economic, environmental and financial matters.

We believe that a negative decision on our application would be wrong and would adversely affect the Missouri and Illinois residents of this region as well as the entire national aviation system for the next half century.

Israel outpost of freedom in Middle East

(Near East Report)
The Middle East debate at the UN Security Council will offer chances regarding the direction of U.S. foreign policy during the course of 1976. It promises to be a year of intense diplomatic activity in Washington and other world capitals.

The Administration's policy of non-recognition of the PLO will be tested at the UN, as will its basic support for Security Council Resolutions 242 and 338, until now the only agreed-upon foundation for a Middle East settlement.

It should be apparent that any change in our government's position on either of these crucial issues would undermine the U.S. record of cold-blooded murder, openly dedicated to her destruction.

Therefore, we see no reason for any shift in the American stance — nor is any fundamental change expected.

Any attempt to tamper with Resolutions 242 and 338 would only encourage the mistaken belief that Israel can be forced to relinquish territory without genuine political accommodation by her Arab neighbors, or that a settlement can be imposed on the parties.

American policy intentions this year will undoubtedly be spelled out in great detail during Israeli Prime Minister Rabin's visit to Washington later this month for official talks with President Ford and Secretary of State Kissinger.

Assuming there are no startling developments at the UN before then, the Administration can be expected to suggest that Rabin come up with some "new ideas" regarding a second-stage agreement with Syria — a possibility that is causing growing concern among Arab friends.

Experience has shown that America's desire for "new ideas" usually refers to further Israeli territorial withdrawals.

But looking at the topography of the Golan — with Israel's strategic highpoints already located at the edge of the present lines — no further Israeli pullback seems feasible.

Syria has led the anti-Israeli campaign, pledging that it will boycott any negotiations that do not include representatives from the PLO. Last year, President Assad, angered by the Sinai accord, rejected President Ford's invitation to hold talks in Europe, and there has since been no easing of his hardline stance.

Whether or not a new crisis will erupt should become apparent by the end of the year when the UNDOF peace-keeping mandate on the Golan expires.

We can expect the Soviet Union to continue to play its opportunistic, unhelpful role in the Middle East during the coming months, despite detente. By fueling the arms race with massive shipments to Syria, Iraq and Libya, and by its leadership providing political support for the PLO, the Kremlin will attempt to protect its existing influence in the region, while probing for opportunities to expand it.

The Western European nations have lost any claim to an honest broker role in the Middle East. For the most part, they have acquiesced to Arab blackmail, and their influence over events in the region will probably continue to wane.

There is hope, however, that with growing energy independence by Norway and Britain, and the realization that pro-Arab France is paying the same exorbitant price for oil as is the more independent Netherlands, a change in attitude may come about.

Unfortunately, the supine attitude of most of the world's leading nations is an indication of changing.

Algeria's unconscionable behavior in freeing the OPEC terrorists must not be permitted to spread or anarchy in international efforts to suppress terrorism will reign.

As our nation embarks on its 200th year of independence, it is more important than ever to realize the similarities between Israel and the United States.

In a world with a shrinking number of truly free states, Israel remains a vibrant, functioning example of the democratic process.

Thus, to weaken Israel is to weaken ourselves — not morally and strategically, in an age of growing cynicism, it is important to consider carefully what is really important to us as a nation.

Israel's ideals of individual freedom and dignity serve to remind us of the struggle between that tie us together. These bonds must be emphasized if the United States and Israel are to work together for peace in the coming years.

Prompt, efficient enforcement of law

To the Editor:

I have written to Ronald Veizer, chief of police, Granite City, that "while many people are calling policemen pigs and refusing to identify them as protectors of the average citizen and his property, I thought you that I can convey my appreciation to your men, both patrolmen and detectives, who have answered calls to our warehouse located at 2712 N. Warehous Road."

In one instance during the past year, their promptness in answer to an alert from our burglar alarm system resulted in the apprehension of persons who had broken into the building.

Due to electrical interference or whatever, numerous times in the past months the officers answered calls and deserve credit for the efficient, prompt and effective display of professionalism and thoroughness. Investigation when no actual break-in had occurred.

Each and every call was treated as if burglars were indeed in the building; there was no indication of the attitude of "Cry Wolf" by any of the men due to the number of calls made.

The officers are a credit to our community and to their dedication to duty, and to the chief for his part in selection of the men and their subsequent training.

I'm sorry I'm unable to identify each man by name, but I'm sure I would omit at least one if I did not mention them.

During Israeli Prime Minister Rabin's visit to Washington later this month for official talks with President Ford and Secretary of State Kissinger.

Assuming there are no startling developments at the UN before then, the Administration can be expected to suggest that Rabin come up with some "new ideas" regarding a second-stage agreement with Syria — a possibility that is causing growing concern among Arab friends.

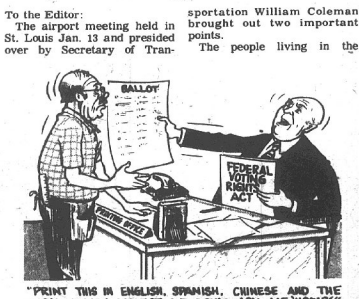

Experience has shown that America's desire for "new ideas" usually refers to further Israeli territorial withdrawals.

But looking at the topography of the Golan — with Israel's strategic highpoints already located at the edge of the present lines — no further Israeli pullback seems feasible.

Syria has led the anti-Israeli campaign, pledging that it will boycott any negotiations that do not include representatives from the PLO. Last year, President Assad, angered by the Sinai accord, rejected President Ford's invitation to hold talks in Europe, and there has since been no easing of his hardline stance.

Whether or not a new crisis will erupt should become apparent by the end of the year when the UNDOF peace-keeping mandate on the Golan expires.

Work for maximum favorable impact from coal conversion in region

A project to study the impact of coal conversion activity on this area has been established at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Andrew J. Kochman, SIUE vice-president and provost, said Tuesday the university is authorizing the Southern Illinois Coal Utilization and Impact Project (SIUCIP) as a direct result of the recently announced Coalcon demonstration plant near New Athens in St. Clair County. The $400 million plant will use 2,600 tons of coal daily in the production of oil and gas.

"The cost of the Coalcon project, the amount of coal used and the possible effect on the economy of new forms of energy sources available in the region will all be important forces for change," Dr. Kochman said.

The SIUE vice-president pointed out that "a much larger commercial coal conversion operation is proposed to be placed in operation in the middle-1980s if the demonstration operation is successful."

"These activities and the activities they would induce will have economic, social, environmental and political effects on the region."

Kochman explained that SIUCIP is "aimed at bringing together in a specific focus the various interests and capabilities at SIUE and appropriate regional entities which can relate to the potentially major impact that the coal conversion industry may have on Southern Illinois."

SIUCIP will be housed administratively at the Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Service (CUERS).

Dr. Kochman announced that Alfred Kahn, professor of earth sciences and planning assigned to CUERS, has been named director of SIUCIP, and Ronald C. Bruno, assistant professor of science and technology, has been designated as associate director. Initially, they will be assigned one-third time to the new project during the winter and spring quarters of 1978.

A project steering committee will be established, consisting of the deans of the Schools of Science and Technology, Social Sciences and Business; the director of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission; and the director and associate director of SIUCIP.

The steering committee will advise the directors on goals of the project and on availability of internal resources for the project.

The SIUCIP director and associate director will meet with university personnel, regional and state government personnel and others, such as Coalcon officials, citizen groups and individuals, to formulate an ongoing work program for the project.

A "working seminar" will be part of the process involved, Dr. Kochman said. "The seminar will identify present concerns and potential problems relative to the coal conversion activity and will provide input to the project work program," he said.

It will also aid in developing the research community in regard to this project and should aid in establishing SIUE as a focal point for environmental and social impact and energy utilization analysis."

According to the project proposal, three additional faculty members will participate in the project starting in the spring quarter, 1978, on a one-third released time basis.

One faculty member from each of the Schools of Science and Technology, Social Sciences, and Business will participate. The length of the assignment will depend on the aspect of the project in which the faculty member is involved.

Three graduate students will be assigned to the project to assist in data acquisition and other research on a half-time basis.

Dr. Kochman also announced that outside funding will be sought to undertake further analysis than is possible with internal university funding.

"Such funding would enable the project to work cooperatively with outside organizations and universities on related research," he concluded.

Grant to provide more jobs for area elderly

Cong. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) announced during the weekend that 100 new jobs will be open to disadvantaged area residents 55 years or older.

Price's statement came as a $332,000 grant from the Economic Development Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, was awarded to the Senior Community Services Employment Project in Edwardsville.

Cong. Price described the national program as one which provides older citizens with part-time work opportunities in various community service programs.

The Edwardsville project, which serves a seven-county area including the 23rd Congressional District, has placed 160 persons in jobs with non-profit agencies such as day care centers, libraries, Meals-on-Wheels and local public housing and Social Security offices since its opening in October 1974. Employees are paid an average wage ranging from $2.30 to $3.40 per hour for a 20 hour work week, Cong. Price said.

200 billion telephone calls in U.S. yearly

In a battle between old rivals, it was Champaign 110, Evanston 93. But it wasn't basketball — it was telephones.

As of January 1975, Champaign had 110.1 telephones for every 100 people — the highest in Illinois.

Evanston came in second, with 93.6 phones per 100 people. Evanston just nudged out its neighbor, Skokie, which had 93.5 phones per 100 people.

The source of these statistics and thousands of others is "The World's Telephones," a pamphlet published each year by American Telephone and Telegraph's Long Lines department. The statistics are dated as of Jan. 1, 1975, since it takes a year to compile them.

Champaign-Urbana is just one of seven metropolitan areas in the U.S. with more phones than people. The other six are Brookline, Mass., 149.1 telephones per 100 people; Washington, D.C., 138.8; Southfield, Mich., 129.0; Cambridge, Mass., 107.4; Palo Alto, Calif., 103.8; and San Francisco, 102.3.

Throughout the rest of the world, only one other city, Stockholm, Sweden, with 107.6, has more telephones than residents.

Chicago has 74.2 phones per 100 people. The national average is 67.6; the world average is 9.1.

Kent, Ohio, has the fewest phones per 100 people in the U.S., with 42.7.

Worldwide, there were 356.6 million phones at the beginning of 1975. That's 22.3 million — or 6.6 per cent — more telephones than on Jan. 1, 1974.

The increase marks the twentieth consecutive year that the global telephone network continued to grow at a rate in excess of six per cent.

The United States, with its 143,972,000 phones, is still first in the world in number of phones. Its nearest rival, Japan, has 10,904,566.

Because of the large number of phones in the U.S., calling volume is also considerably larger than any other country.

In 1974, more than 200 billion calls were made, a new U.S. record. Japan was again a distant second with 45.5 billion calls.

But in terms of growth, foreign countries have made substantial progress. The United States increased its number of phones by 62.1 per cent since 1965 and 4.1 per cent from Jan. 1, 1974, to Jan. 1, 1975.

Taiwan, however, which in 1965 had 147,825 phones, now has 900,626 — a growth rate of nearly 510 per cent.

Besides the U.S. and Japan, there are six other nations with more than 10 million telephones: the United Kingdom, 20,342,457; the Federal Republic of Germany, 18,787,033; the U.S.S.R., 15,782,000; Italy, 13,695,006; Canada, 12,454,331; and France, 12,405,000.

Bell System phones connect with 98.7 per cent of those in the world.

RADIO IS STOLEN

A $147 citizens' band radio and a $35 microphone were stolen from the pickup truck of George Greeney, 3227 Maryville Road, Apt. 8, parked near the apartment building, it was reported at 4:20 p.m. Monday.

The vehicle's window on the passenger side was pried open and entry was gained by reaching through to unlock the door.
